TO BE ERECTED BY MERRIMACK
CO. IN COLBURN STREET

Visions of another magnificent storehouse after the style of the Massachusetts building in Bridge street which continues to be the wonder of all visitors to Lowell when his character is explained to him, floated around a few days ago when it became known that the Merrimack Mfg. But the nature of the new building became known when the permit was taken out to replace the new storehouse is to replace the old storehouse on Colburn street and will be of brick reinforced by concrete though the present building walls and foundations will remain intact. "RODDY" CHISHOLM GETS STUNG
TWO WAYS

Roderick Chisholm of Centralville is a republican candidate for representative in ward one and Dracut. When the list of candidates who had their papers certified to by the registrars of voters at City hall was given out, his name was unintentionally omitted and the papers didn't mention it. Then "Roddy" hotfooted to City hall and told them about it and they promised to rectify the mistake the next day. In rectifying it they announced him as a democratic candidate, and so "it appeared yesterday giving 'Roddy' another occasion to have a fit. Now everything is announced as it should be for "Roddy" is a republican candidate and he doesn't care how many people vote for him, the more the merrier.

FIRST BAD HALF-HOLIDAY OF SUMMER SEASON

Today is the first Thursday afternoon of the summer season that has been bad, and it's an ill wind that blows nobody good for the theatres (that are open are reaping a harvest today).

The past few Thursday afternoons have been "quiet and Sunday-like" as Mark Twain once expressed himself, and nobody could be found on the streets, though from 12 to 1 Merrimack square was crowded with hundreds seeking recreation at the beaches and other summer resorts. Today the square was comparatively deserted, and this afternoon there were signs of life but none of enjoyment down town.

PLEASANT TRIP

TWO LOWELL AUTOISTS VISITED
FOUR STATES

Dr. D. T. Chagnon of Alken street and Mr. Romeo Hebert, manager of the P. Z. Hebert estate, returned last night from a two-weeks' automobile trip in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York. The trip was a pleasant one, and the excursionists report a fine road all the way along excepting a few miles of rough country road between Worcester and Lowell.

The couple left here on August 16 in Dr. Chagnon's American Roadster and proceeded to Nashua thence to Manchester and Concord, where they stopped for a couple of days. From there they shifted to Worcester, going as far as New York. On their return they went as far as Hartford, Conn., then to Springfield, where they made a stop of three days on account of the rain.

This was Dr. Chagnon's third annual trip, having toured the province of Quebec last year and the year previous, in company with Dr. J. B. Masson of Lawrence. On the first trip they covered 1600 miles, on the second 1900 and on this last trip the speedometer registered 800 miles. The doctor said this last trip was the best however, for they did not even encounter a puncture.

Next year the doctor intends to tour the western states.

MILL WAS SOLD
CONWAY, Aug. 31.—A revival of industry in this town is expected to follow the purchase by the Bullard Thread Co. of Holyoke of what is known as the Tucker and Cook mill here. The mill has been closed for two years and a number of families have left town as a direct result. The new owners announce that they will repair the plant and put it in operation as soon as possible. Sixty hands were formerly employed and it is thought that at least that number will be required to operate the mill under the new management.

AUDIENCE OF 10,000

Premier Laurier Talks Reciprocity and Scores Borden

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 31.—Halifax turned out strong last night to hear Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of Canada, discuss the reciprocity agreement and argue for the support of the liberal candidates and policies. The meeting was the largest attended political affair ever held in the Maritime Provinces, more than 10,000 persons crowding into Arena Rink.

The evening was one of continuous ovation for constituents of Opposition Leader R. L. Borden, and most of the speakers of the evening laid stress on the fact that even among the opposition Mr. Borden's success in the present standing is considered doubtful.

Scored Borden

Sir Wilfrid, despite his two days' stiff campaigning, was in good speaking form. He dealt principally with reciprocity, but went into the personal equation to score Mr. Borden for raising the annexation question and for turning as he said, from the policy of former conservative leaders.

The premier said he could not understand the opposition of the present conservative party to reciprocity, and again declared that the present government's reciprocity policy is simply that of the conservatives of 25 years ago.

He did not believe, he said, that the conservatives were prompted in their present opposition by the manufacturers, "as the argument must be for the benefit of the industrial classes as well as the farmers and fishermen. The reason lies in the unholy alliance between the nationalists of Quebec and the British imperialists," he declared.

Other speakers were W. S. Fielding of the Laurier cabinet, Charles Macell, speaker of the house of commons, and the liberal candidates, A. W. MacLean and Dr. Edward Blackadder.

GLIDDEN IS CHAMPION

He Ate Fifty-Eight Ears of Corn

Another world's record was smashed yesterday by Charles W. Glidden, champion eater, formerly of Lowell, who in a restaurant on Atlantic avenue, Boston, devoured 58 ears of corn in one hour and 55 minutes.

The previous record was held by one Mr. Dugan of New York, who a few days ago ate 51 ears.

Mr. Glidden got up from the table after having finished his task and pulled down his white vest, remarking: "I feel satisfied. I never felt really satisfied. I do not feel as if I could eat anything more for two weeks."

For the first time in his life the champion complained of having pains in his stomach, after he had finished his meal and got out on the street again. "It was too much of one thing, you see," he explained. "If I had eaten half a dozen boiled dinners, a quart or two of ice cream, a dozen slices of watermelon and half a dozen cups of coffee, I would have been all right."

"Oh, well, I will go home to Lawrence (his home town), have a glass of hot milk before I go to bed and will wake up all right tomorrow morning, and ready to go to work."

Mr. Glidden is a slender and slender by trade. He is 5 feet 2 1/2 inches tall and weighs now 172 1/2 pounds. He has gained those 2 1/2 pounds in the past two months. The corn-eating stunt yesterday was not done on a wager. "I did it simply to satisfy myself," said Glidden. "I had read of Dugan making his record in New York and re-

SIMPLE HOME REMEDY FOR WRINKLED FACES

(From Fashion Monthly).

Thousands of women are spending fortunes in their frantic efforts to remove the signs of premature age from their faces. When in this state of mind a woman will spend almost any amount of money on worthless wrinkle removers, of which there are many.

If these women only knew it, the most effective remedy imaginable is a simple, harmless face wash which can be made up at home in less than a minute. They have only to get an ounce of powdered sassafras and half a pint of witch hazel at the drug store and mix the two. Apply this daily as a refreshing lotion. The effect is almost magical! Even after the first treatment a marked improvement is noticed and the face has a smug, firm feeling that is most pleasing.

THE CITY OF LAWRENCE

Wants to Borrow $175,000 in Anticipation of Taxes

LAWRENCE, Aug. 31.—The city government last night took advantage of the increased borrowing capacity of the city, as shown by the tax levy of the assessors for the year, and voted to borrow $175,000 in anticipation of taxes, bringing the total up to $1,275,000.

Alderman Scanlon questioned the legality of borrowing so large a sum, claiming that the advance payment of taxes by three of the mill corporations should be deducted from the extra amount made possible by the increased valuation.

Mayer Cahill replied that this amount could be borrowed and the resolution went through with Alderman Scanlon dissenting. Steps will be taken at once to negotiate this loan so as to have the money available by Sept. 12, when the draft becomes due.

At present two monthly drafts, amounting to about $100,000, are held up because of lack of funds.

In Philadelphia, the creation of this fund is looked upon as a bait to prevent the heretofore loyal Penrose adherents from deserting the Penrose banner and going into the camp of Recorder Vane. The recorder is a former Penrose lieutenant, who had the temerity to announce himself as a candidate for mayor without first consulting Senator Penrose.

In an attempt to defeat Vane, Senator Penrose has placed in the mayoralty fight George E. Earle, Jr., banker, alleged foe of the trusts, and former democrat. The name of Earle has failed to strike terror into the hearts of the Vane followers, and the $100,000 fund is for the benefit of present officeholders in case they lose their positions.

The visited Mallow at the house of correction and made a full research as to his condition previous to the shooting. After an exhaustive inquiry the experts reported it their belief that Mallow is mentally irresponsible.

Judge Crosby will issue an order committing Mallow to some asylum for observation, as was done in the case of Herbert J. Spencer of Springfield.

A hearing on the question of commitment will be held in the Berkshire courthouse during the week.

The report by Dr. Tuttle and Dr. Houston covers every detail of the events leading up to the shooting and the reasons for their conclusions.

THE LIVES OF SEVERAL PERSONS WERE ENDANGERED

CHESTER, N. H., Aug. 31.—An automobile accident in which the lives of several persons were imperiled took place at 3.30 last night at the corner of Webster and Beech streets.

Dr. and Mrs. George M. Watson and daughter, Miss Marion Watson, were entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Glover and daughter, Miss Mildred Glover, and Miss Dorothy Cardon of Savannah, Ga., with an automobile ride. The party came down over the state highway, Dr. Watson driving a 45-horse power machine, and when at the corner he experienced trouble with the rear wheel on the right-hand side of his machine.

The automobile was headed straight for a trolley car pole and the doctor put on the brakes and managed to swerve the car so that only the rear wheel struck the post.

All the occupants of the car were severely shaken up and Mrs. Watson sustained a severe cut across the forehead and top of the head. She was assisted to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George McClintock on Webster street, where her wound was dressed.

KILLED HIMSELF
MAN JUMPED IN FRONT OF A CAR

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—Patrick Burke of 15 Deane street, South End, committed suicide by throwing himself in front of a car at the corner of Tremont and Cabot streets yesterday morning.

The car was moving slowly, bound for the subway from Brookline. Burke, who was sitting in a doorway in Tremont street, got up, walked into the street and stood beside the track.

The motorman was about to stop the car when Burke threw himself headlong on the rails. He was crumpled under the fender and life-guard and his back and neck were broken.

The body was identified at the City hospital morgue. It was impossible to learn the cause of his suicide.

Motorman George J. Collins and Conductor Percy French went to station 10 and told the police of the suicide. Three employees of the elevated company, who were on the front platform, the only other witnesses, corroborated Collins' story. The conductor and motorman were released.

NEW CITY CHARTER OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Mr. J. L. Chalifoux Delivers Address to Citoyens-Americans

After 8 o'clock last night, standing room only could be obtained at the Citoyens-Americans club rooms in Dutton street, the affair being a smoke talk given by a committee composed of members of the club, the main feature of which was a long and interesting lecture on the new charter by Mr. Joseph L. Chalifoux. The hall was crowded to its doors and the 250 spectators were well repaid for their trouble in receiving full information concerning the proposed charter which is the topic of the day among the French speaking citizens of this city.

Mr. Chalifoux's Address

The Citoyens-Americans club as everybody knows is a political organization irrespective of party designation, and its members are anxious to obtain all the information possible on both sides of the question. Two weeks ago a smoke talk was given, and the main speaker was Mayor John F. McEgan, who expressed his views as being opposed to the charter. In order to get acquainted with other facts, the committee invited Mr. Chalifoux, who is an advocate of the charter, to give his ideas on the subject, and he promptly accepted.

The meeting was opened at 8:15 o'clock by Mr. John Durand, president publican ward nor republican in a democratic ward has any voice in the election of the 27 councilmen. And, it is called a democratic form of government, one that practically disfranchises a big majority of the voters.

It would be different with the new charter. The mayor and the four aldermen, forming the commission form of government, will be voted for by the entire city, both on caucus day as well as on election day, and if any of the five fail to perform his duties, honestly, we have the initiative, the recall and the referendum which will enable the voters to penalize the commissioner who has failed in his duties by recalling him.

Do not let anyone make you believe for a moment that the large taxpayers expect by it a reduction in their tax bills. It is nothing of the kind. What is wanted and desired is an economical administration, one that would secure one dollar's worth for every dollar spent.

Our Public Needs

We need public baths. We should have band concerts, indifferent parts of the city, twice a week during the summer. We need playgrounds for the children, our streets ought to be better kept, all of which would require considerable money.

The economies in the administration of the city departments that would be made by a commission form of government would provide us with all these needs, and more too.

I have heard it said that the abolishment of the city council would deprive many young men from the training secured in it, preparatory to higher public office. It is not so.

For instance we have Senator Hubbard. He never held any other office before he was elected a senator. There are many others also likewise.

If you will look at the new charter from a purely selfish Franco-American point of view, here again, I affirm, you have everything to gain and nothing to lose. The 24,000 Franco-American people are scattered in all parts of the city, in all the wards and precincts. The greater part of them have no representation in the council, and consequently no influence therein. While under the proposed new charter the vote of every man will count and will carry its due share of influence.

Another very important consideration is why should we have partisan politics in the administration of city affairs? In the caucus men should be chosen, among those who are willing to serve the city, regardless of politics. In this manner, and only so, can we secure the best available men to manage our city affairs.

He then read the synopsis of the principal provisions of the new charter, making comment on them as he read them.

Among the many guests present were Senator Joseph R. Hubbard, Horace S. Bacon, Andrew G. Seavap, Councilman Arthur Lavoie, treasurer; H. Arvisais, Omer Smith and A. Marchand.

Refreshments, pipes and tobacco were served. The committee in charge was as follows: John Durand, chairman; Arthur Lavoie, treasurer; H. Arvisais, Omer Smith and A. Marchand.

Mr. Chalifoux first congratulated the Citoyens-Americans club for the interest shown by its members in the study into the merits of the proposed new city charter. Then he spoke at length on the Canadians in the early days, referring to their troubles with the English to retain their mother tongue, and the sacrifice of some of them for their rights.

"The Canadians of Lowell" said he "are not getting what they deserve, and this is due to the actual system which is undemocratic, and to obtain their rights, the Canadians of Lowell need not make the sacrifices as did their ancestors. We must study the burning question of the day, that of the new form of government that is to be set before us on the election day."

He requested and urged earnestly every one present to make a decided effort to concentrate his mind in analyzing the principal features of the charter.

He said: To arrive at an intelligent conclusion if one is unwilling to read it, it becomes necessary to inquire into the motives of many of those who oppose it.

It is useless to deny it, every political boss, every grafter, every hoodler, and many of the friends of the latter, all of them are unanimously opposed to its adoption.

There are also certain special interests who practically control the city now, for their own special benefit, that are opposed to it. Though it is generally known that all disinterested citizens who have taken the trouble to study and read the proposed charter are in favor of it. This charter was prepared by a committee of 50 disinterested citizens who had only in mind the welfare of the entire city.

It was presented by Representative Marchand, who championed honestly and ably in the legislature the rights of his constituents in demanding the passage of the bill, so that it might be submitted to the people of Lowell, for their approval or their rejection.

And let me quote here some of the arguments used by Rep. Marchand in the legislature before the passage of the bill. He said:

"Mr. Speaker: I speak in the name of 3000 voters of Lowell who have signed the petition that I hold in my hand. They want this charter, and it is opposed by very few men, except officials at city hall."

The house adopted the measure and Representative Marchand was complimented on the spot for his speech, by many labor leaders.

Our present charter is acknowledged to be antiquated even by those who oppose the adoption of the new charter.

Democrats Have No Voice

WOMAN'S PORTRAIT In Gallery of Iowa State Historical Society

Mrs. Fanny Kellogg Bachert, now living in New York city, is the first woman whose portrait has been placed in the historical department of a state. 40,000 POUNDS OF RANGES

The First Fall Shipment of Crawford Ranges to A. E. O'Heir & Co.

The largest shipment of Ranges ever received in this city arrived yesterday in three immense auto trucks, direct from Walker & Pratt's Foundry, at Waltham, Mass., a distance of 26 miles, making the trip in two hours.

The three trucks were loaded with 72 Crawford Ranges and 24 Crawford Parlor Stoves—a total weight of over 40,000 pounds.

This will give an idea to the people of Lowell of the immense quantity of Crawford Ranges sold here by A. E. O'Heir & Co.

Another similar shipment will be received by them the 1st of October and another the 1st of November and very likely some smaller shipments in between of some sizes that they shall run short of.

Walker & Pratt are the first manufacturers to inaugurate the shipment of large quantities of goods by auto trucks. This points the way to an opening of great possibilities for motor trucks and the advantage of the New England market for New England manufactured goods.

What a splendid opportunity here—millions of people consuming the best that can be produced, living within easy reach of quick and economical delivery by motor trucks, delays and damage by breakage which are a great source of annoyance, and loss are avoided.

Walker & Pratt are to be congratulated on their enterprising spirit and also on their fortunate choice of A. E. O'Heir & Co., the Merrimack Square Furniture Dealers, as their agents and the wonderful sale of Crawford Ranges in this city.

REMOVING HER SKIN

(From the Feminine World)

The quickest and surest way to make a good complexion out of a bad one is to actually remove the thin veil of faded or discolored outer skin from the face. This can be done easily, safely and privately by any woman. The process is one of gentle absorption.

Get an ounce of pure mercurized wax from your druggist and apply it at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. In a few days the mercuride in the wax will have absorbed the disfiguring cuticle, revealing the fresh young skin underneath; you will have a beautiful, clear, natural complexion, making the face look brilliantly attractive and youthful. It also effectively removes such blemishes as freckles, tan, moth patches, liver spots, pimples, etc. Every woman should keep a little mercurized wax on hand, as this simple, old-fashioned remedy is the best complexion beautifier and preserver known.

fact that many of our members are engaged in hotels and therefore are obliged to work on that day. In a barouche will ride Mr. Charles McFarland the oldest clerk in the city. He has worked at the business for 32 years and has been employed in this city and Boston. No man in the business this side of Boston is better known than "Charlie" McFarland and undoubtedly he will be given a great reception next Monday during the parade.

The communication also says that any member who is able to appear in the parade and fails to do so will be subject to a fine of $5.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD

SHE WAS SITTING ON A GAS STOVE

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—Dressed in her best clothes and clasping tightly a picture of her husband, Mrs. Isabelle R. Adams of 11 Plain street, Neponset, was found dead sitting on the top of a gas cook stove with the gas turned on yesterday afternoon.

Since the death of her husband, Charles P. Adams, a year ago, Mrs. Adams has been broken-hearted and this is the reason of her suicide, according to relatives.

On returning from work, Willie Hill-ton, brother of Mrs. Adams, searched the house for his sister and finally found her sitting on the stove.

MORIARTY IS FIT

Local Boxer in Shape for Tonight

Judging from the talk about town there will be a large attendance of members at the opening meeting of the Lowell Social and Athletic club this evening, when Jimmie Moriarty will meet Billy Glover, the Boston boxer who has met such good men as Tommy Quill, Harry Lewis and a number of the other top-notchers, as there is great interest in the match, particularly in Jimmie Moriarty, as the result of the good news that has been coming from his handlers, who claim that he has improved greatly in boxing, and is still as sturdy as ever. Moriarty was over a rugged boxer, willing to take a punch in order to give one, and he is possessed of the wallop. At boxing, however, he was not as clever as some of the top-notchers, but it was predicted by the experts that if he could improve in the scientific end of the game, this improvement, coupled with his natural ability, would put him among the leaders. As far as physical condition is concerned Jimmie is always ready for the fray, as he takes good care of himself at all times. For the past six months he has devoted all his spare time to improving in boxing, and those who have seen him work out lately claim that the improvement is marked. Thus he may be depended upon to show something to the Boston boys tonight. The preliminaries have been well selected and should be most interesting. As usual, the meeting will be for members only, and non-members may as well remain away on the day will be rigidly enforced in regard to admittance. The bouts will be called at 8.15 o'clock sharp.

MIKADO AND CZAR

Have "Made Up" After Seven Years

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 31.—It has just been admitted officially that the czar of Russia and the Mikado of Japan have "made up," otherwise have exchanged friendly expressions, after an estrangement of seven years growing out of the Russo-Japanese war, which the czar lost to the mikado. The act of the mikado which resulted in the renewal of friendly relations between the two emperors was his announcement in a note to the czar that he would restore to Russia the hospital ship Angara, formerly the Moskva, which the Japanese captured in 1904.

YOUTH ACCUSED BY FELLOW COUNTRYMAN IN HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, Aug. 31.—Tony Nilo, a young man who lies in the City hospital suffering from a self-inflicted stab, was placed under arrest yesterday. He is charged with committing an assault on Peter Morelli before he bared his breast and offered his life as a sacrifice to honor.

Nilo has been living at a lodging house on Washington avenue. It is alleged a quarrel was passed which Nilo took as a challenge and that an ink bottle was thrown, striking Morelli. The latter, the police say, followed Nilo to his room and there Nilo bared his breast, passed his knife to his lodging house master and told him to plunge it into his bosom if he believed what he had charged. Morelli says he made no offer and then Nilo stabbed himself. The knife struck the breast bone and was deflected.

Nilo was eager to be transferred to a police cell that his honor might not suffer, but the attending surgeons refused.

SOLID TIRES

ARE BEING USED ON AUTO FIRE PATROL

The heavy expense of new tires and repairing of tires for the automobile fire patrol has resulted in Chief Hosmer experimenting with solid tires for the rear wheels. Owing to the weight of the machine, which is five tons, there has been considerable difficulty with the tires and since the first of the year it has been necessary to purchase five new outer casings or shoes and seven inner tubes at a cost of $312.83 to say nothing of the money expended for repairing of tires.

The new tires which are being tried out are known as Schwabach non-skid tires and are perforated, it being claimed that the perforation prevents skidding on wet pavements or in rounding corners.

Despite the fact that the tire expense has been rather large, Chief Hosmer in conversation with a representative of The Sun yesterday said that the expense was not near as large as it would be if the horse drawn apparatus was used. He contends that if the horses were in use the company could not have responded to the numerous alarms this year without wearing out at least one pair of horses.

The protective company has done exceptionally good work since the automobile supplanted the horse drawn apparatus and in many instances the prompt response of the company has resulted in the saving of many thousands of dollars worth of property.

IMMENSE TRUCKS

BROUGHT CONSIGNMENT TO A. E. O'HEIR & CO.

Three big five ton Mack trucks owned by the Crawford Range company and loaded with ranges and parlor stoves consigned to A. E. O'Heir and company, Merrimack square, attracted great attention in the downtown streets yesterday. They came over the road from Boston yesterday making the distance in an even two hours. There were 35 ranges and 24 parlor stoves on the trucks all of which were safely deposited in Mr. O'Heir's establishment during the early afternoon. Quite a crowd gathered about the store when the trucks arrived and one of their number remarked to Mr. O'Heir: "Getting in your winter's supply of stoves, Mr. O'Heir?"

"Winter supply? Winter supply?" cried Mr. O'Heir with great emphasis. "I should say not. That is one month's supply."

MRS. T. MCK. LAUGHLIN, WHO ENTERTAINS PRESIDENT'S FAMILY

ISLEBORO, Me., Aug. 31.—Mrs. T. McK. Laughlin, entertainer of President and Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen Taft for the Labor day week end, the presidential party sailing up from Beverly in the yacht Mayflower, is a sister of Mrs. Taft and lives at Pittsburg, but at present is occupying her summer home here. Her husband, a prominent business man of Pittsburg, committed suicide about a year ago.

SAME OLD CIRCUIT

N. E. League Map Remains Unchanged

That the present New England league circuit will remain intact next season was decided at a meeting of the league held last evening in the American house in Boston. While no formal vote was taken, the eight teams represented voted to send each to Secretary Farrell of the national board to insure protection under the national agreement, for another year, which practically means the retention of the present circuit. The league will meet again on September 15th to transact further business.

Ex-Mayor Eugene E. Reed of Manchester appeared in behalf of his city which desires admittance. He was listened to respectfully, after which his proposition was turned down. The city of Portland was considered and also turned down.

The meeting would have been rather perfunctory but for a protest from Worcester and Lawrence against Barrows playing in the Lowell team on the ground that Barrows was barred out by Chicago in violation of the laws of organized baseball.

Barrows, it was claimed, had been recalled by Chicago White Sox after being let out to Lincoln, Neb., and later sold to Lowell.

President Murnane answered this statement by showing a check for $1000 from the White Sox for the purchase of Barrows. He said that he had investigated the team's action and that the Lowell club had paid $500 to Lincoln for title to Barrows, and that after a week had passed, Chicago had asked for and received an option for the purchase of Barrows for the sum of $3500.

"You don't imagine that the Chicago club is paying $1500 for a player if that club already has title to the player," said President Murnane.

The Lawrence and Worcester clubs could not refute this argument and the meeting ended with the Barrows matter ironed out.

Manager Gray made the statement that when the Lowell club owners bought Barrows, they secured absolute title to him. He has a letter to show that he first corresponded with the White Sox manager, and upon being informed Lincoln was the one to do business with, he wrote to Lincoln, and subsequently purchased outright title to Barrows. A week later, when Chicago asked for a chance to buy Barrows, Lowell gave Chicago option on him for $1500. The check received and exhibited tells the rest of the story.

Present at the meeting were: John O'Brien, John Torphy, Fall River; E. H. Waser and W. J. Leonard, Lynn; James J. Smith, New Bedford; Eugene E. Reed, Manchester; Louis Pieper, Jos. P. Sullivan, Lawrence; J. J. Kennedy, J. J. Gray and A. J. Roach, Lowell; D. F. Clonkey, Haverhill; John O'Donnell, Jesse Burkett, Worcester; John E. Blake, John McCue, Fred W. Harrington, Steve Flanagan, Brockton.

SECOND FLOOR

SINKING OF A BARGE

Witnessed by Men of Point Judith Life Saving Station

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 31.—The sinking of a barge and the rescue of its crew by the men of the Point Judith lifesaving station down the coast today, looked out along the coast early today saw a tugboat with a yellow rail and a black smokestack bearing the letter "P" in a diamond setting towing two barges of the box type but which was having much difficulty in working up against a stiff northeast blow and a heavy sea. When about two miles north of Point Judith, near the League rocks, the first of the two barges went down. The Point Judith crew prepared to go out to the craft but saw that the tugboat succeeded in rescuing whoever was on the sunken barge. The tug then picked up the other barge which was not loaded and proceeded up the coast. It was believed she would put in at either Saunderson or Newport.

A dory which was picked up by the Point Judith lifesavers and which evidently came from the lost barge showed that the craft was the Rye of New York and her captain was Charles F. Hanson. In the dory were letters addressed to Captain Hanson in care of John Scully, agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, South Amboy, N. J. The Rye was built in 1897.

Among other governors expected are Austin L. Crothers of Maryland; John K. Tener of Pennsylvania; Arum J. Fother of Rhode Island; George Abner Mead of Vermont; William W. Kitchin of North Carolina and possibly several others.

JERRY MAHONEY

THIRD ANNIVERSARY

OF FOUNDING OF NOTRE DAME DE LOURDES PARISH

The third anniversary of the founding of Notre Dame de Lourdes parish will be observed in a fitting manner next Sunday at the cozy little church in Branch street. The choir under the direction of Mr. H. A. Racicot is rehearsing the harmonized mass of the second tone, and at the offertory "Toti Pulchra Es" will be sung by a quartet, Mr. Edouard Gaudette sustaining the solos.

The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Fr. Barrette, O. M. I., who will take as his text "The Dedication of a Catholic Church."

FINGERS CRUSHED

ARTHUR MORVAN MET WITH A PAINFUL ACCIDENT

Mr. Arthur Morvan, president of Laval council, U. S. B. D. A., suffered a painful accident a couple of days ago in Manchester, N. H. Mr. Morvan who is employed by a fire escape company was setting one of the apparatus on a building in Manchester, when the chain fell, holding the heavy piece of steel, slipped the piece of steel falling on Mr. Morvan's fingers, crushing them badly. He was removed to a hospital where the physicians took several stitches to close the wounds. This injured man will not resume work for several weeks at least.

15,000 OTHERS

SAID TO BE LIABLE TO FINE AS WELL AS LAWSON

MARSHFIELD, Aug. 31.—The $100 fine imposed on Thomas W. Lawson for alleged promotion of a lottery at the Marshfield fair has caused many who attended the fair and were presented with cards which gave them a chance of becoming the owner of the horse offered by Mr. Lawson.

Under the statute, it is said, every one who held a card is guilty of aiding and abetting a lottery. Even newspapers which mentioned the horse before the fair took place might be dragged into the matter, it is said.

Where the affair will stop if the Watch and Ward society presses it is hard to tell, for 15,000 tickets on the horse were distributed. The Watch and Ward society will have the largest job it has ever undertaken to bring all those "offenders" into court.

GOVERNOR WILSON

TO ATTEND CONVENTION OF DEEPER WATERWAYS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 31.—Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, who looms large in the public eye as a presidential figure will be the stellar attraction at the Fourth Annual convention of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways association which will be held in the city of Richmond, Va., October 11 to 20.

Last year the association held its annual convention at Providence, R. I., and the entertainment afforded the delegates was notable in character and on a scale of magnificence such as is rarely witnessed at conventions of this character. Richmond, however, with its stainless record for hospitality, purposes a series of entertainments for the delegates that it is hoped will at least rival the efforts of its sister city to the north in the way of proper entertainment.

While Providence has its clam bake Richmond will have its oyster roast and its terrapin. In addition to the toothsome delicacies the Capital City of the Old Dominion and the great objective of the Civil war, offers an endless variety of scenes, not only as viewed with the last half of the nineteenth century, but connected with the early beginnings of the country's history.

In addition to Governor Wilson a number of other executives of states interested in the Atlantic Deeper Waterway movement will participate in the exercises of the convention, Governor Mann of Virginia delivering the speech of welcome to the delegates.

BROWN WAS DEFEATED

The English Lightweight Champion Outfought the New Yorker

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Before a crowd of about 11,000 people which packed Madison Square Garden from pit to dome, Matt Wells, the lightweight champion of England, defeated Valentino (Knockout) Brown of New York in a 10-round glove contest last night which marked the revival of legalized boxing under the new Frawley law in this state.

The cleverness of the Englishman was something that the rough and ready East Side boy could not fathom and, while not badly punished, Brown was outpointed from start to finish. During the 10 rounds "Knockout" failed to get his dangerous left punch working more than half a dozen times, and when it did land on Wells it lacked the sting which gave the tow-headed boxer his nickname.

Brown's work was a disappointment to his friends. His great showing against Wolgast in two bouts and against One-Hound Hogan, together with his successful career against local fighters of no great merit, had made young Brown an idol with the New York fighting public. There were plenty of men who were willing to back their convictions that "Knockout" would hold his own against the Englishman for 10 rounds. But Wells was a favorite.

Brown tried hard to get his famous punch under way. When the south-paw glove starting way back and swinging around in a looping course flew at Wells' head and body, the Englishman always had a defense for it. When Brown rushed at him headlong in his wild fashion, he was met more than half way with a jab or jolt which altered Brown's plans considerably.

Wells would have no slugging, and when Brown tried it, the Briton got him in the grasp of a clinch and punished his body and jaw at close range. Wells was master of the East Side at lightning just as he was at boxing. The quick, sharp punches of Wells showered so fast on Brown that he was very much confused.

He was game as a boxer could be, and fought back hard, but never had a chance of breaking through Wells' guard. The Englishman was agile on his feet and danced away from Brown skillfully as he rushed at him. He followed up advantages much better than Brown, and when he got in a good punch he quickly followed it up with another. He kept Brown worried from start to finish.

Seven of the rounds officially belonged to Wells. Referee Charley White had to caution both men frequently in the clinches. The battle gave "Knockout" Brown's championship aspirations a severe setback.

It was stated that the gate receipts totaled $30,000. Brown received 32½ per cent and Wells 22½ per cent of the gross receipts. The old ring and platform upon which Corbett and McCoy, Rubin and Fitzsimmons and other lesser lights had swapped punches in other years, was erected in the center of the garden.

Brown and Wells weighed in at 4 o'clock. The New York boy tipped the beam slightly under 133 pounds, but the British light-weight champion, before he stepped on the scales had found himself over weight, so he piled on a couple of sweaters and took a long run, followed by a vigorous rubdown.

Even then Wells was a quarter of a pound over weight when he weighed in. Brown, however, did not claim the forfeit of $500 for over weight.

"Harlem Tenney" Hopkins had a shade over Joe Bell in a four-round preliminary. This curtain-raiser was followed by a four-round draw between two 122-pounders, Mike Grady and Lou Fisher.

Young Joe Gans stopped Johnny Harvey in the fourth round with a left hook. In the semi-final Jim Coffey shaded Harvey Kelley in six rounds.

Crowd Breaks Through Window By the time Brown and Wells left their dressing rooms every inch in the garden was taken and hundreds stood on marse behind the box seats. Some of those turned back at the doors climbed a fire escape to the fourth floor.

There was a crash of glass and he-fore the police could check the rush a stream of spectators spilled through the window like beans from a bag. It was one of the largest crowds ever jammed into the garden.

Wells was the first to climb through the ropes and was given a cordial welcome. He was escorted by nine seconds, including his manager, George MacDonald. The Englishman was trained fine and looked to be in tip-top shape. The little Teuton, Brown, soon followed Wells into the ring. He went at once towards Wells' corner, where he shook hands with his opponent.

Brown was smiling and confident and looked as right as a trivet. It was announced that both men had weighed in under 133 pounds. There was some betting at 100 to 75 on Wells. Both men came into the ring with hands bandaged. Referee White stripped some of the bandages from Wells' hands.

Brown was forced to remove some of the bandages from his hands also. The men boxed under Queensbury rules.

PLAYED FITCHBURG

Lowell Had an Easy Time With Bijous

The Lowell team went to Fitchburg yesterday and defeated the strong Bijou Independents of Fitchburg by a score of 5 to 1, the lone tally being a gift to the home team in the final inning.

Lowell tried out Pitcher Morgan of Amesbury for five innings, and he made a good showing. Warwick relieved him for a little practice, and he fanned seven in four innings and didn't give a single pass.

Bellivan, an amateur, pitched good ball for the home team. Rice, the Fitchburg short stop, was bad in the field, but he got three singles. Duggan played first base.

There were 2000 fans present, and they were enthusiastic over Lowell's fielding. The score:

DIAMOND NOTES

And the rain that reigns over Lowell holds the rein over Worcester as well.

The Pied-Pipers of Spicketville are the victims tomorrow on their own little dump by the river.

Hearty for Martie O'Toole. He won his first game if he did pass up 10 of them. He squared himself by fanning nine.

And Manchester and Portland will remain on the outside looking in.

Tim Murnane actually "sided in" with Lowell against Lawrence and Worcester at the league meeting. He couldn't do otherwise for Lowell had the right end of the argument.

They went 10 to 6 in Worcester on the pennant fight. Lowell holds a lead of three with about a dozen more games to play.

The objection to the Lowell players in some other cities on the ground that they are "too cheery" is amusing. They are not "cheery," they are simply dignified and gentlemanly on the ball field at all times. Lowell has had less trouble with umpires than any other club on the circuit.

Morgan, the Amesbury pitcher, tried out by Lowell at Fitchburg yesterday, made a good showing in the five innings he pitched. Warwick who finished the game looked great.

Double-header at Lawrence tomorrow. Special cars both ways.

There seems to be a reversal of sentiment around the New England circuit. Up to recently the fans in practically every large city in the league have been pulling for Jimmy Gray's Lowell bunch to beat out Worcester for the pennant, but now a big percentage of them are pulling for Burckett to land the rag. The cause for this is in a measure due to the "cheery" feeling exhibited by the Lowell players on account of the showing they have made and also because nearly every one believes the Lowell club is far over the salary limit. It is said the Lowell club makes a showing within the salary limit because the men are under contract until the time snow begins to fall and are paid so much per month for a total of about seven months instead of four. With the other clubs striving to keep within the salary limit and trailing along far behind the Lowell combination of high-priced stars the fans are beginning to wish to see them pulled down and finish behind the leaders.—Haverhill Record.

Opinion is divided in Lawrence. Many fans dislike the Lowell team mainly on account of its "cheerfulness" while others think that Burckett has had enough pennants in this league to last for a while. As for the team being over the salary limit the fans here, when referring to the Grays speak of it as "the $3000 team."—Lawrence Daily Eagle.

MELVIN SHEPPARD WILL TRY TO MAKE NEW MARK FOR THE MILE

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Melvin Sheppard is going to try and smash the world's record for the mile, that of 4 minutes 15.25 seconds held by John Paul Jones of Cornell. "Shep" has been in training for several weeks and is now running in wonderful form. "Just as soon as the metropolitan championships are over I'll leave for Montreal, Canada," said Shep the other day. "There I will have a whole week's training on one of the fastest tracks in North America. On Sept. 28 the Canadian championships take place, and the management has promised me that the track will be put in the very best of shape, so that I may have a good try at the mile record." Sheppard believes that the time will surely come when the mile will be run in 4 minutes and 10 seconds.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

One of the most aspiring of the musical successes this season is the second edition of the "Trouble Makers," a new operatic comedy in which Ward & Vokes are being starred by Mr. E. D. Stair. They will pay their annual visit to the Opera House on Saturday afternoon and evening. This piece will have a host of pretty girls and fifty of the brightest farceurs. It will be handsomely staged and embellished with sartorial appointments of a high order. The new songs to be introduced are said to be melodious and catchy. Lucy Daly, who has been with Ward & Vokes for a number of seasons, will portray the character of "Babbling Bess" and will render her latest popular successes, "Oh, Look Who's Here," "Different Phase of Life," "Nance Took a Chance With Me" and "Oh, You Babbling Bess,"—Adv.

"THE THIEF"

When "The Thief" was produced at the Lyceum theatre two years ago, Margaret Illington was selected to portray the leading role. Miss Illington fired of theatrical life and announced that she would rather live in "a cottage and darn socks." Since then Miss Illington has reversed her decision and has agreed to leave the darning of socks to others. In the production which comes to the Opera House next Monday, matinee and night Maylon Sherwood, a young actress of beauty and ability, will take up the role laid aside by Miss Illington. In point of equipment "The Thief" will be the same as when produced at the Lyceum theatre.—Adv.

"HIS HONOR THE MAYOR"

"His Honor the Mayor" will only be here one night at the Opera House, and due to the popularity of the piece and Mr. Kelly, it might be well to suggest that it would be better to secure seats in advance, as capacity houses are the rule and this is, in all probability the last opportunity to see "His Honor the Mayor" for Mr. Kelly is making preparations to star in a new piece next season.—Adv.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The staging of E. F. Payne's delightful one-act play, "What Money Can't Buy," which is being produced at the Merrimack Square theatre this week by Our Stock company, is one of the pleasant features in connection with its presentation. No expense was spared in surrounding it with the necessary detail to bring out the author's true ideas and the results have been most satisfying, both to the management and the patrons alike. Kendal Weston is meeting with unqualified success in the character of John Blake, the American millionaire in London, and Miss Phelps and Mr. Byrne, are also sharing in the favorable recognition that is being daily bestowed on the presentation. Next week the company will give Mr. Payne's greatest success entitled "A Forgotten Melody." In the latter Mr. Weston is seen at his best and no doubt will make many new friends by his cleverness in interpreting the character to which he is assigned. The other numbers on the week's bill, including Little Mary Green the "Aeroplane Girl," Pescio the harpist, Gilbert and King comedians and Miss Anna McMahon, provides excellent entertainment.—Adv.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The Hathaway theatre will open tomorrow evening with New England's foremost comedian Mr. Donald Meek and his clever company of players in William Collier's celebrated comedy success, "Caught in the Rain," which through no design of the management or the actor is strikingly appropriate for this week. The play is to be presented from the original manuscript without curtailment and will be elaborately staged with the wealth of accessories which enhanced the attractiveness of the Collier production. The new company has been rehearsing for the past week under the direction of Mr. William Roberts, one of the best known stage directors in the country, and a faultless performance from the opening night is assured. The leading man of the new company, Mr. Rockcliffe Fellows, is a stranger to Lowell, though well and favorably known from New York to the coast. Miss Marie Horton, a talented and charming leading lady, played a short engagement here this summer and made many friends and admirers by her artistic work. Miss Langdon, ranks among the leading ingenues in the great world of stock theatricians while the reputation of Mr. Roberts, the stage director and character actor, extends across the sea, where for several seasons he successfully directed the stage of the London Hippodrome and brought therefrom to America "The Sporting Duchess" one of the tremendous American hits of recent years. The other members of the company all rank high in their profession. The advance sale of seats for opening week indicates crowded houses at all performances while the subscription list is assuming most encouraging proportions. The list will remain open for a week more unless the demand becomes too great. There are a few good seats left for the opening performance tomorrow and these may be ordered by telephone, 311. Seats for the two performances of Saturday and Sunday are going fast.—Adv.

THEATRE VOYONS

Today's number of the Pathe weekly shown at the Theatre Voyons is especially interesting for it shows a complete picture of the recent Knights of Columbus convention in Detroit, Beachey and other aviators of note in action during the recent New York to Philadelphia race. The investiture of the Prince of Wales with the Garter and the proclamation of George V. as Emperor of India and many other notable features. The Biograph dramatic is a thrilling story of the south in wartime with plenty of excitement and a beautiful story. The comedy is a very laughable one and the musical program excellent.—Adv.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Beginning today, and for the remainder of the week, the Augusta Perry Co. will produce Miss Perry's latest play, "The Squaw's Love." This drama was written especially for her company by Miss Perry, as a suitable ending for a successful season at that theatre. This is the second of Miss Perry's plays that have been offered to the public this season, and judging from the way "The Daughter of Fate" was accepted, this one ought to score a hit, too. Miss Perry will assume the leading role and with Walter Downing as her "right hand man," will render the drama in excellent fashion. The stage effects are of the best obtainable and everything that goes with a good show will be found at that playhouse. The full strength of the company will support their leaders in fine style and the play is sure to take. Matinees will be given every afternoon this week.—Adv.

CREDIT UNION

MEN WHO SIGNED PRELIMINARY PAPERS HELD A MEETING

The 40 men who signed the preliminary papers for the institution of a credit union in Notre Dame de Lourdes parish held a meeting in the parochial school hall last night and elected their board of officers.

The meeting was called to order by Rev. Fr. Lamothe, O. M. I., promoter of the new bank and he introduced Lawyer J. H. Guillet, who spoke at length on the credit union question, explaining to those present the purpose of such a bank, and the way to proceed in its organization. William A. Fathens and Severin Belanger were chosen chairman and secretary respectively of the meeting and the following directors were chosen for the first term: P. X. Dostaler, A. H. Lemire, H. A. Racicot, Zephyrin Lorange and Ferdinand Piche.

Another meeting will be held on the first Tuesday of October at which time a president, secretary and treasurer of the Notre Dame de Lourdes Credit Union will be chosen, after which time the system will be started in the parish, especially among the school children.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1910 was 15,976

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 2, 1911. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

It is a pity that it was two officers and not two Black Handers who were shot in Boston while trying to catch one or more members of this treacherous gang.

Certain deliverances by Mr. Hearst would indicate that he is preparing to take a hand in the presidential campaign. He has given Roosevelt a broadside, while praising Mr. Taft. Later he also flayed Taft, and it would not be surprising to find him next flaying some democratic candidate.

The police of Lowell are to be commended for stopping the baseball pools which are allowed full swing in almost every other large city of the state. There are certain people so much accustomed to games of chance that if prevented from dabbling in the baseball pools, they will give their money to some other scheme perhaps still worse, but it is the business of the police to stop all such gambling games wherever they find them.

That Oakland sewer question will come up again and again until the work is completed. The pumping scheme would be only temporary at best and would not benefit the city by increasing the value of real estate to any great extent, whereas the completion of the sewer would be a paying investment if considered only on the increased value of land and the new buildings that would be erected as a result.

The democratic leaders of the country have sufficiently indicated their determination not to tolerate any dictation from Mr. Bryan in regard to the selection of candidates in the coming presidential contest. Mr. Bryan insists on applying his personally prescribed test of loyalty and party fealty to all candidates seeking the democratic nomination, and he does not hesitate to attack any one who does not meet his approval. In this way he is liable to jeopardize the party's chances of success. Of course Mr. Bryan is not a possibility in the coming contest, and if he assumes the role of dictator he will do a whole lot of harm either to the party or to himself and possibly to both.

Thomas W. Lawson has been fined $100 for taking part in a so-called lottery. In this case Mr. Lawson's act injured nobody and helped a little community at Marshfield. The head and front of his offending was the giving of a fine horse and phaeton as a prize to the holder of the ticket of admission drawn in lottery style from the tickets taken in at the gate. The Watch and Ward society got after Lawson and after securing the evidence entered legal proceedings. There are a great many worse gambling games than this and many that go unnoticed by the society that got after Lawson. The offense is slight compared with that of luring people into investments in which they lose everything.

RECENT RAILROAD WRECKS

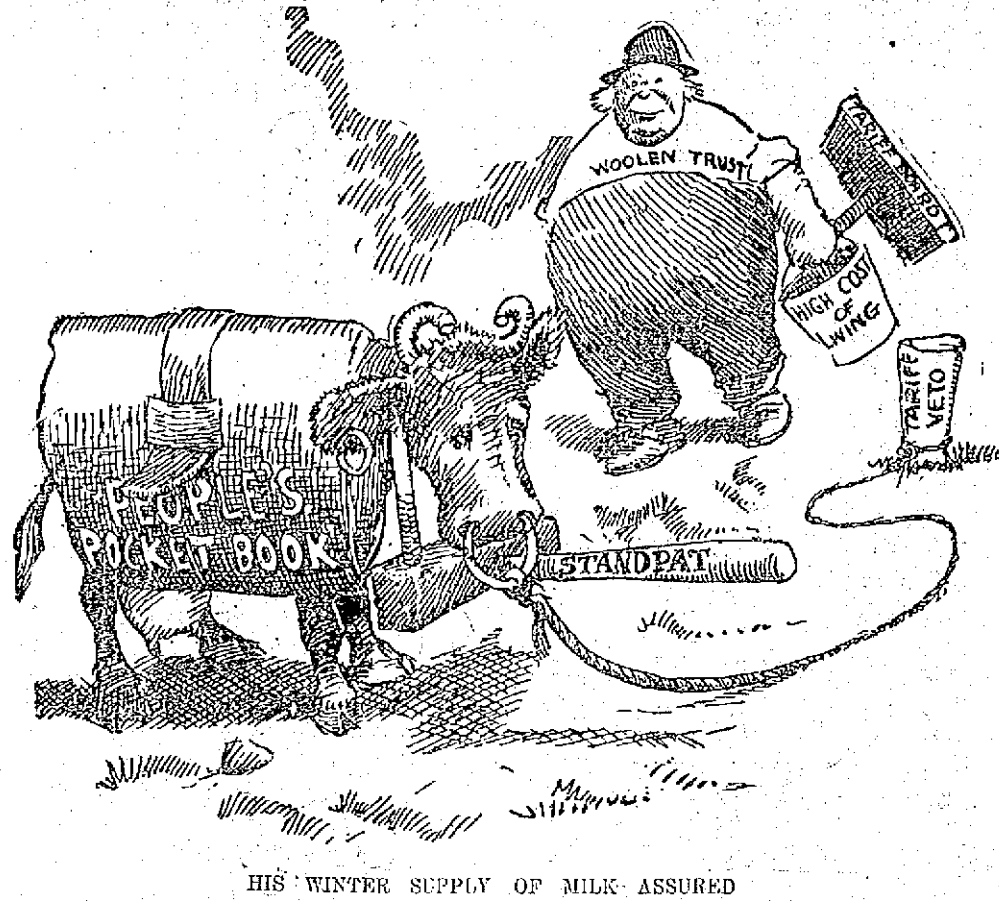

Railroad wrecks are becoming dangerously common. That at Manchester, N. Y., cost 28 lives, and coming so soon after the disastrous wreck of the Federal Express, it has caused a good many people to think that travel by rail is becoming unsafe. The wreck of a train at Middletown, Conn., was a very serious affair, although fortunately not attended with loss of life. For each of these accidents and others of a similar nature there was a cause that might have been removed by close attention before the accidents occurred. The Federal Express seemed to have been wrecked as a result of an engineer's lack of caution at a point where high speed was dangerous. The company might have made that point safe at high speed. The Manchester accident is said to have been due to a defect in a rail that might have been detected when the rail was put down if not later. The Middletown, Conn., accident, it is alleged, was caused by the removal of spikes from the rail, but the sheriff finds no evidence to sustain this charge. It requires almost superhuman vigilance and foresight to prevent accidents on railroads, and nothing will prevent them so much as holding the management of the companies responsible for every accident that might have been averted by proper care and careful inspection.

FATAL FOOLISHNESS AT THE FOURTH

Statistics showing the casualties on the Fourth of July celebrations for the past nine years show that the agitation for a snorer Fourth has lessened the number of fatalities to a remarkable extent as will be seen from the subjoined figures. They have been collected by the Journal of the American Medical Association and show that from 1903 to 1911, both inclusive, there have been 1719 deaths and 31,110 casualties. The table follows:—

Year	Deaths	Non-fatal Injuries	Total Casualties
1903	168	2953	3121
1904	466	3956	4422
1905	182	4924	5106
1906	155	5505	5660
1907	164	4219	4383
1908	163	5400	5563
1909	215	5082	5297
1910	131	2792	2923
1911	37	1516	1553
Totals	1719	31,110	32,829

It is needless to comment upon the fatuity that leads to such results in the celebration of Independence day. The agitation that has reduced the number of deaths from 466 in 1903 to 37 in 1911 should be kept up so that the observance of the Fourth may ultimately be free from any serious accident. It is time the saturnalia by which the greater part of the country has been turned into a bedlam on the night before the Fourth should be strictly prohibited same as arson, bomb throwing or target practice on the public streets. It would never have attained such dangerous proportions had it not been condoned at by the police authorities in every city in the land. Strict regulations vigorously enforced will gradually bring the people back to a realization of their foolishness in lapsing into a state of temporary insanity as regularly as the Fourth of July arrives.

SEEN AND HEARD

In some parts of the south the darkies are still addicted to the old style country dance in a big hall, with the fiddlers, banjoists and other musicians on the platform at one end.

At one such dance held not long ago in an Alabama town, when the fiddlers had duty resigned their bows and taken their places on the platform the floor manager rose.

"Git yo' partners fo' de nex' dance," he yelled. "All you ladies an' gentlemen dat wears shoes an' stockins, take yo' places in de middle of de room. All you ladies an' gentlemen dat wears shoes an' no stockins, take yo' places immediatly behin' dem. An' you barefooted crowd you jes' git it round in a corner."—Lippincott's Magazine.

In an Illinois town you can find on the map the fire department has an excellent record for conscientiousness and devotion to duty. One night the church bell rang out clearly an alarm with the code taps that indicated "fire north of square."

In an instant response the fire department jumped on his horse and galloped to the rescue. He had not gone

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Fall River Globe: If Lieutenant Governor Frothingham flatters himself that he has found a popular issue in exploiting Gov. Ross' charge that the state's money is being wasted through the unbusiness-like methods, not to describe them by any harsher term, that obtain in the administration of many of the state institutions and bureaus, and if he believes he is making a hit with the voters in belittling it, his judgment must be poor and his perceptive faculties rather blunted. Every observing and intelligent citizen is convinced of the fact that the governor's allegations on that point are true and that thousands of dollars might be saved the commonwealth under more competent management and more regard paid to the practice of economies and to keeping expenditures down to a wise and reasonable limit, as is essential in conducting every well ordered and successful private enterprise.

NEW REGULATIONS
Brocton Times: The street traffic regulations having been passed by both branches of the city government, it now remains to enforce them, and there will no doubt be considerable difficulty about this for a time. People have been so long accustomed to driving about as they please that they are generally resentful when such rules are enforced until they come to see that they are for their own safety and

THE SUNSET
A pleasant smile and a light caress—I ask not more and I want not less; I do not plead for an ardent love, That mantles the heavens or spans the sea;

I only ask that time shall prove That you will be gentle and kind to me. While memories flicker as sunsets fade, And every ghost of the past is laid;

With love a truant and passion dead, There still comes a glimmer of sweet sunshine, As I think of the night when you bowed your head—

Bowed it and mingled your tears with mine. Song and laughing that come and go, Love and passion that ebb and flow, The past seems a dim and receding shore—

The past with its vanishing, shattered years; But the face that looks longest through memory's door, Is pallid with sorrow and wet with tears.

And so I ask as the twilight fades, That you walk beside me still unafraid; As we watch the flow of the ebbing tide, And hear the shores of the unknown sea.

That you nestle closer by my side, And share your sorrows with none but me. —Sam P. Davis, in Munsey's Magazine.

Frank A. Munsey, the publisher, is noted among his friends as a close reasoner.

A New York reporter submitted recently to Mr. Munsey a proposal for a new magazine on novel lines. Mr. Munsey proved in a closely reasoned argument that this magazine would fail. Then, in conclusion, he said:

"Or, if the magazine did pay, it would pay so little that its publishers would be like an editor in the neighborhood of my native Mercer."

"Near Mercer, Me., lived an editor who once printed in his weekly paper this editorial announcement:

"In view of the fact that we are unable to pay the road tax of $5 assessed against us we have been sentenced to a period of confinement by the authorities. Consequently, there will be no issue of this paper for the next month, but, as the state will have to board us, few figure that we shall come out some $15 ahead."

NO UNBELIEF
There is no unbelief. Whoever plants a seed beneath the soil, And waits to see it push away the clod, He trusts in God.

Whoever says when clouds are in the sky, "Be patient, heart, light breaketh by and by," Trusts the Most High.

Whoever sees 'neath winter's field of snow, The silent harvest of the future grow, God's power must know.

Whoever lies down on his couch to sleep, Content to look each sense in slumber deep, Trusts the Most High.

Whoever says "Tomorrow," "the Unknown," "The future," trusts the Power alone. He dares disown.

There is no unbelief, And day by day, and night, unconsciously, The heart lives on by faith the lips deny.

God knoweth why! —Pulver Lytton.

convenience. Absolute enforcement to the extent of fining offenders, would not be wise at first, and a better plan might be to have the traffic policemen act for a time as instructors rather than as enforcers of the law. It might also be practical to have printed copies of the new regulation and place these in the hands of the traffic policemen, to be handed by them to all drivers. Whatever plan is adopted, there will be for a time the necessity of forbearance on the part of all.

FOR DE COURCY

Lawrence Sun: That was a fine tribute paid Judge C. A. DeCourcy by the members of the Essex Bar Association. These men have been in a position to best judge his qualifications and no better recommendation could be obtained than their unanimous endorsement of him for appointment to the supreme judicial bench. Governor Foss would make no mistake in choosing Charles A. DeCourcy as a supreme court justice. He is eminently qualified for that honor, as is attested by the action of the Essex county bar.

THE PRESIDENT'S DEFENSE

Johnstown Democrat: In his defense of the Controller's bay grip, President Taft referred in his message to the fact that alternate sections of the bay front have been reserved by the government and that this has made monopoly impossible. It now turns out that this precaution is nothing more than a sham. The bay front claims to be so shallow that no transportation company can use them without access to the land in the rear. If President Taft knew this his silence on the subject in his message does not speak well for his sincerity. If he did not know it then, one may well question whether his knowledge of the Alaska situation is sufficient to give any value whatever to his recent explanation. Fortunately, no matter what the true state of affairs regarding the Controller's bay grip, a monopoly can be broken through the use of the taxing power. The plotters who are scheming to get possession of Alaskan resources are leaving out of their calculations the possibility of a tax on land values being levied that will make it unprofitable to hold land without using it.

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE'S BUMPS

Manchester Mirror: These who have believed phrenology to be a discredited pseudo science will rub their eyes as they read of the analysis of Senator LaFollette's character made apparently in all seriousness by Dr. Allen, the president of Aurora college. The older part of the public will recall the days when Fowler and Wells were taken very seriously by intellectual persons and Gall was looked upon as a real discoverer. Dr. Allen not only finds bumps of firmness, moral development, executive ability, severity and self-esteem on the LaFollette cranium but he makes a very practical application of his discoveries by asserting that the Wisconsin senator is the only man, aside from Roosevelt, who can beat Woodrow Wilson as a presidential candidate in 1912.

THE PRESIDENT'S PLEDGE

New York World: The president who in December pledged the "prompt elimination" of instances of injustice in the following August vetoing bills eliminating instances of injustice which he himself has repeatedly denounced. He is appealing to the "statutory direction" of congress that a referendum on the tariff be made for its guidance by a commission which congress refused to authorize. He is scolding congress for "promptly eliminating injustice." In an extra session called to consider reciprocity, though as president he has no power to limit the subjects with which congress, once called together, may deal. From the high tone of a president of all the people promising the prompt correction of abuses he has descended to the level of the stand-patter pleading local interests and urging that the tariff shall be "revised by its friends."

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

A well-attended meeting of the International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen was held last night at their hall, 22 Middle Street. President John T. Hendricks occupied the chair and considerable routine business was transacted. Four new members were initiated and six applications for membership were received and turned over to the investigating committee. The local made a canvass of the members in regard to turning out in parade on Labor day, which showed that a good number will be in the line of march. The trustees made a report on the financial standing of the local, which showed it to be in better financial condition than ever before, also showing increasing membership at every meeting, and the report was accepted as very progressive.

Stationary Firemen

The regular meeting of the Street Railway Men's Union was held Tuesday night with Vice President Sweney presiding. The latter after opening the meeting delivered a short address on the significance of Labor day. Plans were completed for the Labor day parade, and it is expected that the division will make a good turnout on that day. Three new members were initiated and one proposition received. Brother Linehan has been appointed marshal of division 551, in the parade.

A Clean Poultry House

Epidemics among fowls are so common that they must be constantly guarded against by the liberal use of a disinfectant.

Carbonol—the coal tar disinfectant—is ideal for this purpose, because it is very cheap and powerful. Wash the poultry houses, roof, walls and perches, with a Carbonol solution and lice will be killed and will not come back.

For chicken cholera, gapes and roup, prevent contagion by the liberal use of Carbonol solution. The fowls themselves may be sprayed with it, either locally on the part infected or all over.

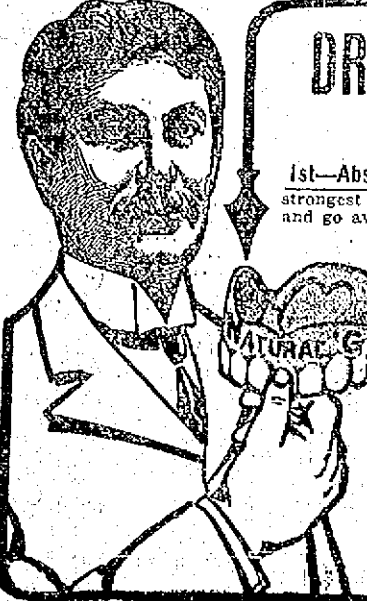

Their runways should be washed with it and a little Carbonol should be put in their drinking water.

For scaly legs, canker, frozen combs and wounds apply Carbonol solution locally, and a speedy cure will be effected.

Carbonol also has many uses in the home for general cleaning and disinfecting.

A sample of Carbonol will be sent free on request.

MR. I. L. SHOWEM SPENDS THE WEEK-END IN THE COUNTRY

JUSTICE RICHARDSON

Aged Judge Passed Away at Orford, N. H., Last Night

ORFORD, N. H., Aug. 31.—Death, which had hovered about his bedside for a month, came to Judge James I. Richardson of the Massachusetts superior court just at the stroke of midnight last night. Judge Richardson had been unconscious more than 24 hours.

James Bailey Richardson was born at Orford, N. H., Dec. 9, 1832. He received his education in the public schools of that town and was prepared for college partly by Homer O. Hitchcock, a private tutor, and partly at the Orford Hill academy. In 1853 he entered Yale college, but had to give up his studies there on account of illness. On his recovery he took a course at Dartmouth college, graduating from that institution in 1857. Then, choosing law as his profession, he came to Boston and entered the law firm of Hinchins & Wheeler. Two years later he was admitted to the Suffolk bar, but retained his connection with the firm for some time longer. In 1882 he opened an office at 72 Court street, and legal business there for 26 years until the building was torn down. He then formed a partnership with Edwin B. Hill, under the firm name of Richardson & Hill, with offices in the Rogers building, 209 Washington street.

Active in Politics
Judge Richardson was early identified with municipal affairs. He was always a republican in general politics, though in state and local affairs he showed considerable independence. In the early sixties he served for three years on the republican ward and city committees, and in 1856 he was elected to the legislature from old ward 4. In 1877 and 1878 he was a member of the common council from ward 10. In 1884 he was appointed one of the commissioners to revise the city charter, and joined ex-Mayor Cobb and James M. Dugbee in a report to the city council recommending many of the changes which were afterwards successfully

A VACATION STORY

City-Boy Tells of Hay Ride in Maine

The vacation season is now ending. In Lowell and in other large cities all who can each summer journey to some quiet spot to seek rest and relaxation. Naturally, to an observer, the difference in the manner of living between those residing in the country and those inhabiting the cities is one of the chief impressions left on his return to town. Nothing will more deeply impress one with this difference than a participation in some of the many forms of diversion by which people of the rural districts make life happy. The following is a brief account of a hayrack party which a vacationist enjoyed while spending a few pleasant weeks in Hampden, Me.

The party, which numbered about fifteen, arrived at its starting point about 10 a. m. and, pulling into a wagon, seated themselves on the now-cut hay along its sides. The wagon, one drawn by two horses and used during the week for carrying grain, was a long and narrow vehicle with projecting latticed sides. Covering its flooring was a thick layer of hay, while at one end were placed baskets and hamper crammed with sandwiches, pies, cakes, old-fashioned preserves, green corn and potatoes fresh from the field and, last but not least, a good sized keg of cider.

Cracking his whip, the driver guided his horses down the long, winding road and the outing was on. The horses ambled along, sometimes halting and sometimes breaking into a trot, while the wagon rolled over the dusty road in an easy and enjoyable manner. From the start its occupants enjoyed themselves. One group played cards, another told stories and a third indulged in the occasion by singing the latest songs. This last form of entertainment then be-

WHITE HOWLED DOWN

Excitement at Elks' Outing at Nahant

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—Efforts made by Representative Norman H. White to address the Elks of Massachusetts at the annual banquet held at the Brandon, Nahant, last night, proved a dismal failure. There were 600 Elks present, not counting Representative White. "It gives me pleasure to introduce Representative White," started President James R. Nicholson. "Foss," shouted someone, and in a moment the banquet hall was in pandemonium. "He has no place here," "Three cheers for Foss," "Shut up," all but drowned out a few scattering cheers for "The next governor."

President Nicholson rapped in vain for order. "Brothers," he cried, "I want to remind you we are Elks and that we must act as Elks and gentlemen. Mr. White is not going to talk politics. You know that is forbidden in this organization. Mr. White came here to address the Elks, and he deserves courteous treatment."

The noise ceased for a moment and Mr. White rose. "Foss," "Shut up," shouted the banqueters. Mr. White strove to stem the tide. "Brother Elks," he yelled, "I merely came here to address you as an Elk and in no other capacity. I have gone without my supper and have traveled a distance of sixty-five miles to wish you godspeed and God bless you."

And thereupon Mr. White took his hat, waved his hand and made an impressive exit. Behind him, however, he left a troubling gathering. Men shouted at each other their opinions of the action of the Elks, of White in regard to Foss, and of White's action in coming, before order was finally obtained. Mr. White came over from the outing of the Malden republican committee to the banquet, which was the concluding exercise of the twenty-second annual outing of the Massachusetts Elks' association.

The guests of the day were Governor John K. Tener of Pennsylvania, a former Haverhill man and past grand exalted ruler of the Elks; Grand Treasurer Edward Leach of New York and Attorney General James M. Swift of Massachusetts. There were no speeches. The affair was arranged by a committee headed by Assistant United States District Attorney E. Mark Sullivan of Boston.

Previous to going to Nahant the annual election of the association was held in Boston and the old officers were all re-elected. The list includes: James R. Nicholson, president; Frank J. Whalen, vice president; J. Clifford Entwistle, secretary; James L. Johnston, treasurer, and John H. Walsh, guard. All are members of Boston lodge.

HOTEL RAIDED

POLICEMAN'S THIRST RESULTED IN RAID BEING MADE

SALEM, Aug. 31.—The thirst which Patrolman Pelletier developed yesterday while he and five brother officers were searching the Hotel Brunswick for liquor resulted in the discovery of a concealed trap in one wall of the kitchen and the seizure of nearly 100 bottles of wines, whiskey and cordials. Inspector Cronin and five patrolmen had searched the hotel for two hours and were about to give up when Pelletier went into the kitchen for a drink of water. Over the sink was a row of furnished kitchen utensils, each on its proper hook. One lonely hook was unoccupied and caught Pelletier's attention. He touched it and a section of the wall moved on hinges, disclosing the stock. Proprietor Frank Miller of the hotel was arrested.

A VACATION STORY

City-Boy Tells of Hay Ride in Maine

The country through which the party passed was beautiful. Fields of waving oats and tall corn, orchards bending under their weight of rosy apples, and groves of tall, green pines were to be seen on every side. Beyond these farmlands stretched miles and miles of hills covered with maple, pine, hemlock and elm trees, the leaves of which were just beginning to show on their golden hues. But too soon the scene of the outing, some five or six miles from the start, was reached. It was located in a clearing of the pinewoods near the shore of a sequestered body of water known as Hammond's pond. Here the horses were unhitched and allowed to graze, a large fire was started and preparations were begun for the chief event of the day—a dinner in the open.

While this bustle was in progress several in the party who were disciples of Isaac Walton roved to the middle of the pond where they set about inveigling its finny occupants onto the "meshes" of their hooks. They were successful. In a short while the fishermen came ashore with a mess of trout and perch which when cooked proved one of the tastiest features of a delicious dinner.

When the party was finally prepared and ready for serving, the party, assembling near the fireplace, seated themselves in a circle upon the grass and fell to without ceremony. Indeed, so keen were the appetites of all that this, it might be said, was the only time in the course of the day when conversation reached the dragging point. For this "there was a reason." The roasted corn and potatoes, the fish just drawn from the pond, the home made bread and different kinds of delicacies, all of which were washed down by the cider fresh from the presses, formed a spread that perhaps might be equalled at Delmonico's but never excelled.

After dinner the party broke into small groups, some roaming through the fields in quest of ferns and wild flowers, with more or less success, some lolled about near the dying fire, and some roved around the shores of the pond gathering its lilies and exploring the remotest sections of that picturesque body of water. Among these latter was a pretty girl who was desirous of learning to row. On being given the oars she proceeded to do a merry o-round stunt with such regularity that her companions soon grew dizzy and fervently wished themselves on land again. came the most popular and, as several of the party possessed really good voices and as all were not timid about joining in the choruses, a volume of harmonious melody arose that left only the most agreeable impression. its unusual handling. In the excitement of landing the pilot dropped one of the oarlocks into the water and when one of the party ashore pulled off his shoes and socks and rolled up his trousers to search for it, she gravely told him not to enter the water lest his feet might dirty it. The gentleman is wondering yet as to just what she meant.

Thus, only too quickly, the afternoon slipped by and the time came for the return. The wagon being made ready, the picnicers, now with not so much alacrity, seated themselves about its hay-covered floor and soon were gazing at Hammond's pond from a distance. It was a quiet ride back to the starting point, everyone seeming content to do little but enjoy the calm beauty of the surrounding countryside. Along the same road over which the party started it was that the wagon rolled homeward, yet in the few intervening hours the scenery had grown even more beautiful. Over the tops of the pines on the surrounding hills the sun was slowly sinking with magnificent grandeur, its exploring rays painting the struggling mass of clouds about it in exquisite colors. It was a fitting ending of an enjoyable outing.

THE OAKLAND SEWER

Was Discussed by the Committee on Sewers Last Night

The committee on sewers, Alderman Rountree, chairman; Aldermen Daly and Jodoin, gave hearings in the public hearing room at city hall last night in which the Oakland sewer matter was discussed. Men whose property is damaged because of inadequate sewerage facilities in that section of the city were present and stated that they would be willing to stand the abuse members of the committee were in favor of relieving the situation by pumping the sewage over the hill and into the Andover street sewer. Property owners who spoke in favor of the gradual completion of the Oakland sewer included Jesse H. Shepard, Edward Cawley and Michael E. Gookin. The Wigginsville sewer was also on the list for a hearing and Richard K.

tion in question spoke briefly and in favor of the proposition for a better sewer service in Wigginsville. One man said that school children in Wigginsville played in sewage most of the summer. Richard K. Sykes wanted to know if the committee contemplated the building of a sewer in Billerica street and the chair said that the idea was to take care of that whole section.

A claim of $37 was presented by Charles N. Erskine for work in pumping out water from his cellar, as a result of the defect in the sewerage, was referred to the committee on claims, with the recommendation that the sum asked be paid.

A communication from Rev. Dr. Harkins was read, suggesting the placing of catch basins in the vicinity of the new Catholic church off Stevens and D streets. It was voted to make the necessary improvements.

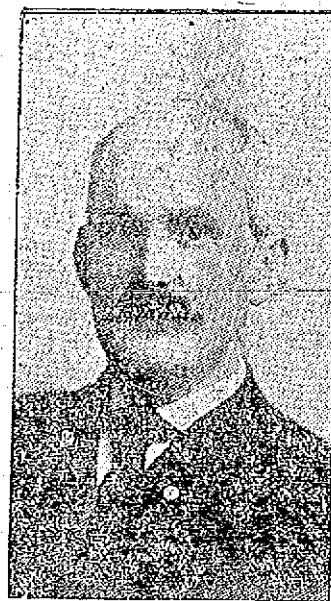

The petition for a new sewer in the passageway in the rear of Dutton street was next taken up. It was voted to lay the matter on the table until an estimate of the work could be given.

for a time if the city would show good faith in the completion of the sewer by building as much as the city could afford to build each year until the sewer is completed. It was roughly estimated that the cost of completing the sewer would figure about $300,000.

Sykes and one other property holder in Wigginsville enlightened the committee as to the very undesirable conditions existing in Wigginsville. Other hearings were of a minor nature but more or less important.

It was just about 8 o'clock when Chairman Rountree called to order. The first matter had to do with the extension of a sewer in the passageway between Market street and Broadway.

Mr. Shepard said that the people in the Oaklands did not expect that the big sewer would be completed in one or two years, but they want to see the work continued in order that they may look forward to permanent relief from present conditions.

Mr. Cawley said it would be for the city's best interest to complete the Oaklands sewer. "We need a sewer badly," he said, "and it is a proposition upon which the city will not get its money back. The conditions existing at the present time are intolerable."

Michael Gookin said the ground had been covered pretty thoroughly by Messrs. Shepard and Cawley. He said that the section in question was suffering for want of proper sewerage.

Mr. Shepard said that he could not tell the exact length of the sewer, but he presumed that such information could be obtained at the office of the city engineer.

Replying again to Mr. Daly relative to the approximate cost of the sewer, Mr. Shepard said that at once time when the matter was in abeyance it was estimated, exclusive of any possibility of ledge, that the sewer would cost something like $125,000 or $140,000.

"Good Riddance," Says Anty Drudge.

Mrs. Don't-know—"Oh, dear! Oh, dear! What shall I do? Here I am with the biggest washing for months, and there is a great big rust hole in the bottom of my washbowl."

Anty Drudge—"It's just the best thing that ever happened for you. Just throw the washbowl away or make an ash can of it, and wash with this cake of Fels-Naptha soap I've brought you. Use it in cold or lukewarm water, as easy directions on inside of wrapper tell you, and you'll never want a washbowl about the place again."

You are always ready to use Fels-Naptha soap. That is a great advantage.

Say you want to wash a few white things on a hot day. You don't build a hot fire and make the house like an oven to heat water.

With Fels-Naptha you just get a bowl of cold water and wash the things.

It's so simple, so easy. No boiling of clothes; no steam, no nauseous odor.

Same way if you want to remove an accidental grease spot from the floor or wash a window marked by sticky fingers. When there's cold water near, Fels-Naptha is always ready.

You'll appreciate this readiness on wash-day. No washboilers and stirring paddles to bother with, no hot fire to keep up, no danger of scalding your hands.

Likewise in washing dishes, Fels-Naptha will cut the grease in cold or lukewarm water, no matter how long they have stood before washing. And there's no heat to crack delicate china or glassware.

Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

CAESAR'S DEATH

AUGUST 31.—Julius Caesar the first of the Imperial emperors was born August 31, A. D. 100. All the Caesars were born on this day. He was a man of all the blue bloods in his class. He ascended the Roman throne on the death of Tiberius, and that old scoundrel was a pluck ten function by comparison with his successor. One of his wishes was that Rome had but one neck so that he could stay home at a single blow. The killing of people high and low was his favorite pastime. He would give a banquet to some of the senators and have people put to death in the banquet hall as an added attraction. He built a bridge and while it was loaded with a gay concourse of people, the bridge was wrecked that the emperor might have the pleasure of seeing people drown. He ordered executions to be held in his house when meat was scarce. And all the time he was as mad as a heavy hitter who had just been called out on strikes. One of his bodyguards at last did the trick which ended his folly. After being frightfully treated Mr. Caesar proceeded to carve up his body with a sword cutting a path for his successor. This happy event took place January 24, A. D. 41.

AMERICAN OFFICERS TO TAKE A YEAR'S STUDY IN FRENCH SCHOOL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The war department is struggling to make the American cavalry soldier a perfect, fearless dashing rider—like his forefathers in the days of the Indian campaign. With that end in view Captains Conrad Babcock and Henry H. Richmond of the cavalry are about to leave this country for a year's course of instruction in the French school at Saumur. The advance of civilization across the continent and the advent of the bicycle and the auto are the cause of a deteriorating in American horsemanship in the opinion of army officers. With the flow of population to the west and the horse losing its hold as a means of locomotion they contend that a perfect rider has become an exception and not a rule. Upon the return of the officers from France they will be appointed instructors in the American mounted service schools.

that it was about time there was a little moral reform and added that of late the principal business in police court was the hearing of assault cases. The first case taken up was that of Philip Joe, charged with assaulting the two women. Deputy Supt. Downey appeared for the government and the defendant was represented by Lawyer Bennett Silverblatt.

Agata Kucarska, one of the complainants, testified that shortly before 11 o'clock Tuesday night the defendant and a number of other men were fighting in Sullivan's court, off Fenwick street. She was afraid that the defendant might be killed and stepping into the crowd said: "Don't fight," whereupon Joe turned around and stabbed her in the right breast with a pocket knife.

Agata Kucarska, the second complainant, corroborated the testimony of the preceding witness and said that Joe stabbed her on the wrist with a sharp pocket knife. She said that she was in a store earlier in the evening and heard Joe say: "I have a good sharp knife for tonight." On cross-examination the witness testified that her husband was present at the time but she did not know if he participated in the fight.

Philip Joe, the defendant, said that he went to a store in Fenwick street where a window had been broken and was returning to his home when a man approached him and after calling him a vile name struck him twice and knocked him to the ground. While he was on the ground Joe claims that about 20 men pounced upon him and admitted that in trying to defend himself he might have accidentally struck the women, but that he had no intention to do so.

The court after considering the evidence in the case found him guilty and sentenced him to two months in jail. The case of Stanislawski charged with assaulting John Murawski was then taken up. J. Joseph O'Connor appeared for the government the defendant not being represented by counsel.

John Murawski, the complainant, testified that he lives in Fenwick street and Tuesday night left his home to get a can of beer. He was returning with the "wet goods" when Sopal approached him and drawing a knife stabbed him in the back of the left ear and before he could recover himself Stanislawski stabbed him in the back of the neck. The witness could not state any reason for the men assaulting him other than that they had some trouble with people who live near him and that they threatened to take revenge on the friends of the people who had assaulted them.

Dr. Samuel Edelstein, one of the house physicians at the Lowell hospital, testified that Murawski called at the hospital late Tuesday night and was suffering from laceration in the back of the ear and another on the back of the neck. The wound behind the ear was a slight one but it was necessary to take two stitches in the wound in the neck.

Patrolman Markham said he saw Stanislawski strike the complainant and later placed him under arrest, but did not succeed in capturing Sopal. Stanislawski, testifying in his own behalf, said that he was drunk Tuesday night and did not know what he did. He admitted that he might have stabbed the man.

Judge Hadley found the defendant guilty and sentenced him to five months in the house of correction at Cambridge. Back to the Farm Charles B. Wilson pleaded guilty to a complaint charged by his third wife, Mrs. Wilson, who was charged with threatening his wife. Mrs. Smith said that her husband came home drunk yesterday and when she objected to his bringing a drunken friend into the house he struck her and threatened to kill her. She said that he had threatened to repeatedly and had struck her frequently. Inasmuch as Smith offered no defense Judge Hadley sent him to jail for four months.

Robert Welch pleaded guilty to being drunk and a fine of $4 was imposed. Four first offenders were fined $2 each and several simple drunks were released before the opening of court.

Fine of $100 Imposed John F. Carney was charged with unlawfully having in his possession, with intent to sell the same, certain tickets in a certain letter for money. Through his counsel, J. Joseph O'Connor, the defendant entered a plea of guilty and the court imposed a fine of $100.

Case Continued William H. Gilbert and Frank Lebreux were arraigned on complaints charging them with the larceny of money from the White Sewing Machine Co. Pleas of not guilty were entered and by agreement the cases were continued until next Wednesday.

JOHN JACOB ASTOR

HAS SIGNED HIS MARRIAGE SETTLEMENT

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 31.—Although John Jacob Astor and his fiancée, Miss Madeleine Force, were in Newport for a few hours Monday they devoted part of the time to becoming known yesterday to the signing of the marriage agreement, in which the settlement which Col. Astor is to make upon his bride is stipulated. The document was signed in the presence of Lewis Cass Leary, a New York attorney, and bears the signatures of Col. Astor, Miss Force, Mr. Leary, and William H. Force, father of the bride-to-be, the latter two as witnesses. The amount of the settlement is not known, and all of those who were present are now out of town.

Newport people look for the announcement of the wedding soon, possibly before the close of the present week, although no definite information has been given out. Col. Astor and his party left Newport for New York on the steam yacht Noma Monday evening.

A BIG FAMILY REUNION

The Shedd's From All Points Gathered at Billerica Centre

A pretty gathering of relatives took place yesterday at the Billerica Centre town hall, when the Shedd family of America held its first annual meeting. The affair was attended by about 250 members of this large family, and the Shedd family association was formed, all those present being charter members. All who are by birth descendant

FREEMAN B. SHEDD, One of the Vice Presidents

In this association. The chief aim of the association is to hold reunions in the future, collect historical data and to promote sociability among kindred descended from one common ancestor.

Previous to the meeting which was held at 11 o'clock the members of the party registered with Frank E. Shedd, secretary of the committee of organization, while Mr. Charles G. Shedd, chairman of the reception committee, was in the town hall busily engaged in introducing the relatives to each other.

At 11 o'clock the entire family assembled in the assembly hall to hold a business meeting. Mr. George F. Shedd occupied the chair, while the address of welcome was delivered by Mr. Charles Shedd Clark, followed by the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

President, Joel Herbert Shedd, of Providence, R. I.; Vice President, Hendrick P. Shedd, Rochester, N. Y.; Charles B. Shedd, Chicago, Ill.; Frederick Shedd, Columbus, Ohio; Freeman B. Shedd, Lowell; George W. Shedd, Willshire, N. Y.

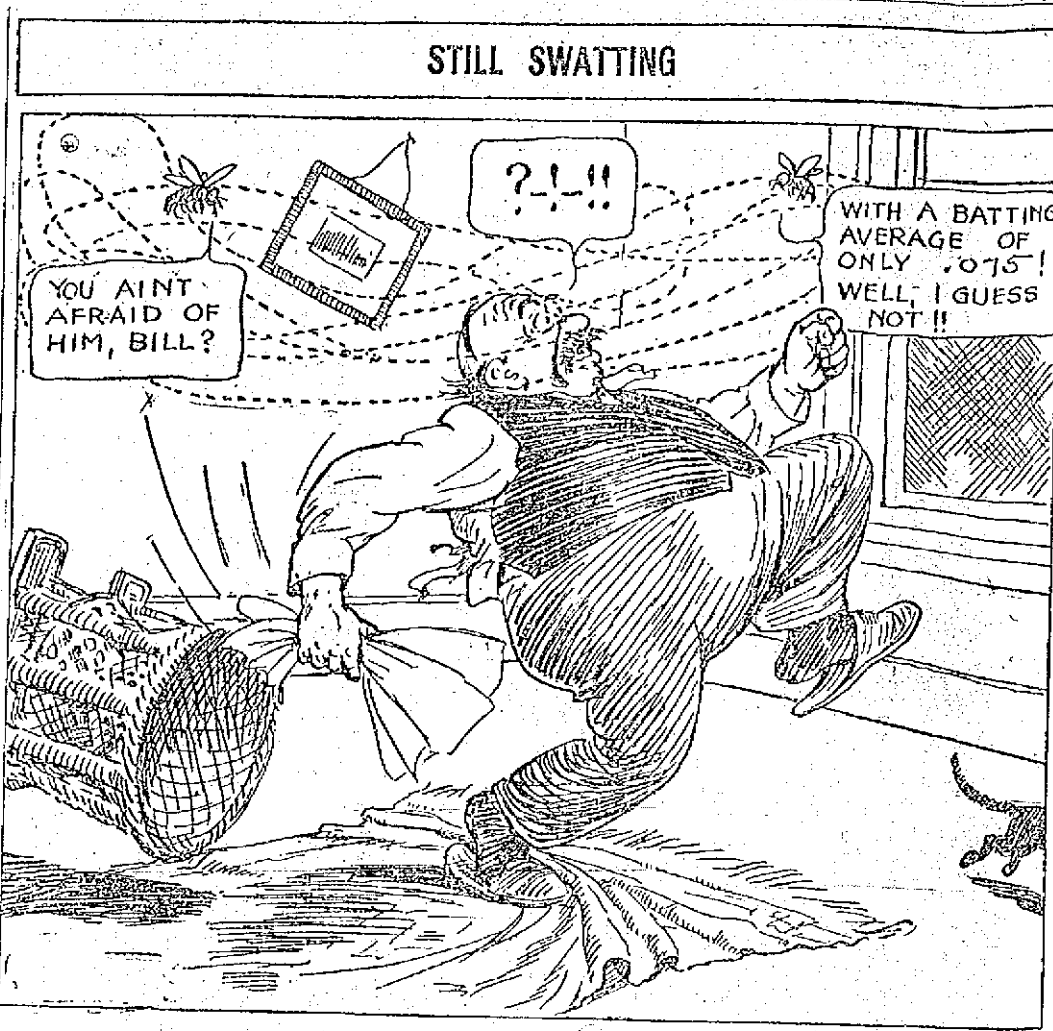

Executive committee: Frank S. Atherton, Chicago, Ill.; Harrison P. Shedd, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Charles H. Shedd, Malden; Mrs. William B. E. Shedd, Newton; Lorin J. Shedd, Toledo, Ohio; secretary and treasurer, Frank E. Shedd, Boston.

The meeting closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" by the entire gathering. Luncheon was served in the large dining room on the first floor by a corps of ladies residing in the village.

Photographs of the family were taken, which will be on sale to the members as soon as they are finished.

Among those present were Messrs. Freeman B. Shedd, Harry L. Shedd, William B. Shedd and families of this city.

MILL WAS SOLD

The mill has been closed for two years and a number of families have left town as a direct result. The new owners announce that they will repair the plant and put it in operation as soon as possible. AUDIENCE OF 10,000

Premier Laurier Talks Reciprocity and Scores Borden

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 31.—Halifax turned out strong last night to hear Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of Canada, discuss the reciprocity agreement and argue for the support of the liberal candidates and policies. The meeting was the largest attended political affair ever held in the Maritime Provinces, more than 10,000 persons crowding into Arena Ring.

The evening was one of continuous ovation for constituents of Opposition Leader R. L. Borden, and most of the speakers of the evening laid stress on the fact that even among the opposition Mr. Borden's success in the present standing is considered doubtful.

Scored Borden
Sir Wilfrid, despite his two days' stiff campaigning, was in good speaking form. He dealt principally with reciprocity, and went into the personal equation to score Mr. Borden for ruling ing the annexation question and for ruling as he said, from the policy of former conservative leaders. The premier said he could not understand the opposition of the present conservative party to reciprocity, and again declared that the present government's reciprocity policy is simply that of the conservatives of 25 years ago. He did not believe, he said, that the conservatives were prompted in their present opposition by the manufacturers, "as the agreement must be for the benefit of the industrial classes as well as the farmers and fishermen. The reason lies in the unholy alliance between the nationalists of Quebec and the British imperialists," he declared.

Other speakers were W. S. Fielding of the Laurier cabinet, Charles Maclellan, speaker of the house of commons, and the liberal candidates, A. W. MacLean and Dr. Edward Blackadder.

GLIDDEN IS CHAMPION

He Ate Fifty-Eight Ears of Corn

Another world's record was smashed yesterday by Charles W. Glidden, champion eater, formerly of Lowell, who in a restaurant on Atlantic avenue, Boston, devoured 58 ears of corn in one hour and 55 minutes.

The previous record was held by one Mr. Dugan of New York, who a few days ago ate 51 ears.

Mr. Glidden got up from the table after having finished his task and pulled down his white vest, remarking: "I feel satisfied. I never felt really satisfied. I do not feel as if I could eat anything more for two weeks."

For the first time in his life the champion complained of having pains in his stomach, after he had finished his meal and got out on the street again. "It was too much of one thing," he explained. "If I had eaten half a dozen boiled dinners, a quart of two of ice cream, a dozen slices of watermelon and half a dozen cups of coffee, I would have been all right."

"Oh, well, I will go home to Lawrence (his home town), have a glass of hot milk before I go to bed and will wake up all right tomorrow morning and ready to go to work. Mr. Glidden is a sign painter and glazier by trade. He is 6 feet 2 1/2 inches tall and weighs now 172 1/2 pounds. He has gained these 2 1/2 pounds in the past two months. The corn-eating stunt yesterday was not done on a wager. "I did it simply to satisfy myself," said Glidden. "I had read of Dugan making his record in New York and re-

KILLED HIMSELF

MAN JUMPED IN FRONT OF A CAR

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—Patrick Burke of 15 Tremont street, South End, committed suicide by throwing himself in front of a car at the corner of Tremont and Cabot streets yesterday morning.

The car was moving slowly, bound for the subway from Brookline. Burke, who was sitting in a doorway in Tremont street, got up, walked into the street and stood beside the track.

The motorman was about to stop the car when Burke threw himself headlong on the rail. He was crumpled under the fender and his head and his back and neck were broken.

The body was identified at the City hospital morgue. It was impossible to learn the cause of his suicide.

Motorman George J. Collins and Conductor Percy French went to station 10 and told the police of the suicide. Three employees of the elevated company, who were on the front platform, the only other witnesses, corroborated Collins' story. The conductor and motorman were released.

SENATOR PENROSE WANTS TO HOLD "GANG" IN LINE

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 31.—Sen. Penrose Tuesday acknowledged that he is entering the hardest political fight in his career when he allowed Magistrate Morris, one of his followers, to announce that Senator Penrose and Senator McNeel, his chief lieutenant, had set aside $100,000 as a re-

THE CITY OF LAWRENCE

Wants to Borrow $175,000 in Anticipation of Taxes

LAWRENCE, Aug. 31.—The city government last night took advantage of the increased borrowing capacity of the city, as shown by the tax levy of the assessors for the year, and voted to borrow $175,000 in anticipation of taxes, bringing the total up to $1,275,000.

Alderman Scanlon questioned the legality of borrowing so large a sum, claiming that the advance payment of taxes by three of the mill corporations should be deducted from the extra amount made possible by the increased valuation.

Mayor Cahill replied that this amount could be borrowed and the resolution went through with Alderman Scanlon dissenting. Steps will be taken at once to negotiate this loan so as to have the money available by Sept. 12, when the draft becomes due.

At present two monthly drafts, amounting to about $100,000, are held up because of lack of funds.

Dr. P. J. Hughes was made a member of the board of health to succeed Dr. J. H. Tobin, who has been chosen milk inspector. The appointment of James Flanagan as building inspector was confirmed.

Relief fund for his followers, should he be defeated in the coming mayoralty election.

In Philadelphia the creation of this fund is looked upon as a bait to prevent the heretofore loyal Penrose adherents from deserting the Penrose banner and going into the camp of Recorder Vane. The recorder is a former Penrose lieutenant, who had the temerity to announce himself as a candidate for mayor without first consulting Senator Penrose.

In an attempt to defeat Vane, Senator Penrose has placed in the mayoralty fight George E. Earle, Jr., banker, alleged foe of the trusts, and former democrat. The name of Earle has failed to strike terror into the hearts of the Vane followers, and the $100,000 fund is for the benefit of present officeholders in case they lose their positions.

who on application of counsel for Malack had appointed them a commission to investigate Malack's mental condition.

The ystified Malack at the house of correction and made a full research as to his condition previous to the shooting. After an exhaustive inquiry the experts reported it their belief that Malack is mentally irresponsible.

Judge Crosby will issue an order committing Malack to some asylum for observation, as was done in the case of Bertram J. Spencer of Springfield. A hearing on the question of commitment will be held in the Berkshire courthouse during the week.

The report by Dr. Tuttle and Dr. Houston covers every detail of the events leading up to the shooting and the reasons for their conclusions.

AUTO ACCIDENT

THE LIVES OF SEVERAL PERSONS WERE ENDANGERED

CHESTER, N. H., Aug. 31.—An automobile accident in which the lives of several persons were imperiled took place at 8:30 last night at the corner of Webster and Beech streets.

Dr. and Mrs. George M. Watson and daughter, Mrs. Marion Watson, were entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Glover and daughter, Miss Mildred Glover, and Miss Dorothy Gordon of Savannah, Ga., with an automobile ride.

The party came down over the state highway, Dr. Watson driving a 16-horse power machine, and when at the corner he experienced trouble with the rear wheel on the right-hand side of his machine.

The automobile was headed straight for a trolley car pole and the doctor put on the brakes and managed to swerve the car so that only the rear wheel struck the post.

All the occupants of the car were severely shaken up and Mrs. Watson sustained a severe cut across the forehead and top of the head. She was assisted to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George McClintock on Webster street, where her wound was dressed.

MALLACK INSANE

NORTH ADAMS MAN KILLED TWO AND WOUNDED OTHERS

PITTSFIELD, Aug. 31.—Faldo Mallack of North Adams, a millhand, who on July 22 on a trolley car, between Adams and North Adams, shot and killed Motorman George Hoyt of Pittsfield and Miss Martha Eiser of Adams, and wounded several other passengers, was reported insane yesterday by Dr. George Tuttle, superintendent of the McLean hospital for insane at Waverley, and Dr. John A. Houston, superintendent of the state asylum for insane at Northampton.

The doctors made their report to Judge John C. Crosby of Pittsfield.

SIMPLE HOME REMEDY FOR WRINKLED FACES

(From Fashion Monthly).

Thousands of women are spending fortunes in their frantic efforts to remove the signs of premature age from their faces. When in this state of mind a woman will spend almost any amount of money on worthless wrinkle removers, of which there are many.

If these women only knew it, the most effective remedy imaginable is a simple, harmless face wash which can be made up at home in less than a minute. They have only to get an ounce of powdered exfolite and half a pint of which laced at the drug store and mix the two. Apply this daily as a refreshing lotion. The effect is almost magical. Even after the first treatment a marked improvement is noticed and the face has a snug, firm feeling that is most pleasing.

INTELLIGENT, RELIABLE WOMAN wanted to represent New York firms. Excellent opportunity to sell own business. No capital required. Address S. S. S. Office.

NEW CITY CHARTER

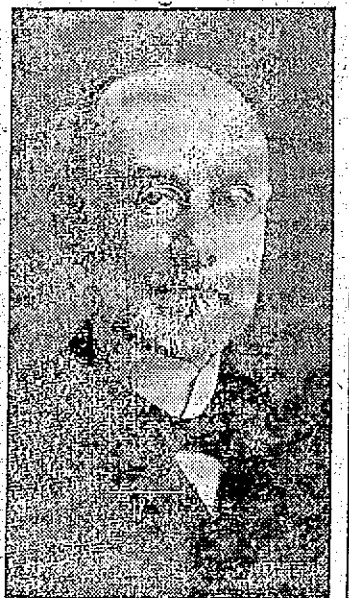

Mr. J. L. Chalifoux Delivers Address to Citoyens-Americains

After 8 o'clock last night, standing in a room only could be obtained at the Citoyens-Americans club rooms in Dutton street, the affair being a smoke talk given by a committee composed of members of the club, the main feature of which was a long and interesting lecture on the new charter by Mr. Joseph L. Chalifoux. The hall was crowded to its doors and the 250 spectators were well repaid for their trouble in receiving full information concerning the proposed charter which is the topic of the day among the French speaking citizens of this city.

Mr. Chalifoux's Address

The Citoyens-Americans club as everybody knows is a political organization irrespective of party designation, and its members are anxious to obtain all the information possible on both sides of the question. Two weeks ago a smoke talk was given, and the main speaker was Mayor John F. McEgan, who expressed his views as being opposed to the charter. In order to get acquainted with other facts, the committee invited Mr. Chalifoux, who is an advocate of the charter, to give his ideas on the subject, and he promptly accepted.

The meeting was opened at 8:15 o'clock by Mr. John Durand, president of the committee, who first informed the voters that at the coming state primaries, they would be able to change their party without the formal 90 days notice, that is a republican voter, who is registered as such, may if he pleases, call for a democratic ballot this year, and the democratic voter is equally privileged to call for a republican ballot. He then complimented and thanked the audience for the large attendance, and introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Joseph L. Chalifoux, who was given an ovation when he arose from his seat.

Mr. Chalifoux first congratulated the Citoyens-Americans club for the interest shown by its members in the study into the merits of the proposed new city charter. Then he spoke at length on the Canadians in the early days, referring to their troubles with the English to retain their mother tongue, and the sacrifice of some of them for their rights. "The Canadians of Lowell," said he, "are not getting what they deserve, and this is due to the actual system which is anti-democratic, and to obtain their rights, the Canadians of Lowell need not make the sacrifices as did their ancestors. We must study the burning question of the day, that of the new form of government that is to be set before us on the election day."

He repeated and urged earnestly every one present to make a decided effort to concentrate his mind in analyzing the principal features of the charter.

He said: To arrive at an intelligent conclusion, if one is unwilling to read it, it becomes necessary to inquire into the motives of many of those who oppose it.

It is useless to deny it, every political boss, every grafter, every boodler, and many of the friends of the latter, all of them, are unanimously opposed to its adoption.

There are also certain special interests who practically control the city now, for their own special benefit, that are opposed to it.

It is generally known that all disinterested citizens who have taken the trouble to study and read the proposed charter are in favor of it.

This charter was prepared by a committee of 60 disinterested citizens who had only in mind the welfare of the entire city.

It was presented by Representative Marchand, who championed honestly and ably in the legislature the rights of his constituents in demanding the passage of the bill, so that it might be submitted to the people of Lowell, for their approval or their rejection.

And let me quote here some of the arguments used by Rep. Marchand in the legislature before the passage of the bill. He said:

"Mr. Speaker: I speak in the name of 3000 voters of Lowell who have signed the petition that I hold in my hand. They want this charter, and it is opposed by very few men, except officials at city hall."

The house adopted the measure and Representative Marchand was complimented on the spot for his speech, by many labor leaders.

Our present charter is acknowledged to be antiquated even by those who oppose the adoption of the new charter.

Democrats Have No Voice

We have 27 councilmen, nine aldermen and the mayor. I reside in a republican ward, and when I attend the caucus I am given a democratic ballot, because I belong to this party, and am thereby deprived of a vote for the election of any of the possible councilmen of the ward. Any republican citizen living in a democratic ward has the same experience. The result is no democratic living in a republican ward nor republican in a democratic ward has any voice in the election of the 27 councilmen. And it is called a democratic form of government, one that practically disfranchises a big majority of the voters. It would be different with the new charter.

The mayor and the four aldermen, forming the commission form of government, will be voted for by the entire city, both on caucus day as well as on election day, and if any of the five fail to perform his duties, honestly, we have the initiative, the recall and the referendum which will enable the voters to penalize the commissioner who has failed in his duties by recalling him.

Do not let anyone make you believe for a moment that the large taxpayers expect by it a reduction in their tax bills. It is nothing of the kind. What is wanted and desired is an economical administration, one that would secure one dollar's worth for every dollar spent.

Our Public Needs

We need public baths. We should have hand concerts, different parts of the city, twice a week during the summer. We need playgrounds for the children, our streets ought to be better kept, all of which would require considerable money.

The economies in the administration of the city departments that would be made by a commission form of government would provide us with all these needs, and more too.

I have heard it said that the abolishment of the city council would deprive many young men from the training secured in it, preparatory to higher public office. It is not so.

For instance we have Senator Hibbard, who never held any other office before he was elected a senator. There are many others also likewise.

If you will look at the new charter from a purely selfish Franco-American view point, here again, I affirm, you have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

The 34,000 Franco-American people are scattered in all parts of the city, in all the wards and precincts. The greater part of them have no representation in the council, and consequently no influence therein.

While under the proposed new charter the vote of every man will count and will carry its due share of influence.

Another very important consideration is why should we have partisan politics in the administration of city affairs?

In the caucus men should be chosen, among those who are willing to serve the city, regardless of politics. In this manner, and only so, can we secure the best available men to manage our city affairs.

He then read the synopsis of the principal provisions of the new charter, making comment on them as he read them.

Among the many guests present were Senator Joseph H. Hibbard, Horace S. Benton, Andrew G. Swamp, Councilmen A. A. and Co. Councilmen Morin and Bergeron.

Refreshments, pipes and tobacco were served. The committee in charge was as follows: John Durand, chairman; Arthur Lavole, treasurer; H. Arvisais, Omer Smith and A. Marchand.

NASHUA MAN COMMITTED SUICIDE BY DROWNING

NASHUA, N. H., Aug. 31.—Despondency on account of ill-health and grief for the death of his wife are the causes assigned by his mother and sister for the suicide of Homer Stanley, whose body was found in the Merrimack river Tuesday evening and identified by the family yesterday.

His mother, Mrs. Harriet C. Stanley of 15 McKean street, says that she cannot understand why he committed the act as the family were doing everything for him.

He came from Worcester, where he had been working a week ago and was suffering from rheumatism. His sister, Mrs. William Smith of 11 McKean street, said that Homer, who was 38 years of age, had never been the same man since the death of his wife last February.

From Cape Porpoise the couple paddled safely three miles out to sea and back in the rollers. It was in a chop off the mouth of the river that the craft was overturned.

Miss Mitchell, hampered by her skirts, was unable to swim, but Melcher, using all his strength and skill, supported her until a motor boat picked them up. The shock of the cold water had proved too much for her. Melcher, regarding his own exhausted condition, helped work over her for a long time, but she did not regain consciousness. When she was pronounced dead he collapsed.

From Cape Porpoise the couple paddled safely three miles out to sea and back in the rollers. It was in a chop off the mouth of the river that the craft was overturned.

Miss Mitchell, hampered by her skirts, was unable to swim, but Melcher, using all his strength and skill, supported her until a motor boat picked them up. The shock of the cold water had proved too much for her. Melcher, regarding his own exhausted condition, helped work over her for a long time, but she did not regain consciousness. When she was pronounced dead he collapsed.

WET THURSDAY

FIRST BAD HALF-HOLIDAY OF SUMMER SEASON.

Today is the first Thursday afternoon of the summer season that has been bad, and it's an ill wind that blows nobody good for the theatres that are open are reaping a harvest today.

The past few "Thursday" afternoons have been "quiet and Sunday-like" as Mark Twain once expressed himself, and nobody could be found on the streets, though from 12 to 1 Merrimack square was crowded with hundreds seeking recreation at the beaches and other summer resorts. Today the square was comparatively deserted, and this afternoon there were signs of life but none of enjoyment down town.

PLEASANT TRIP

TWO LOWELL AUTOISTS VISITED FOUR STATES

Dr. D. T. Chagnon of Aiken street and Mr. Romeo Hobart, manager of the P. Z. Hobart estate, returned last night from a two-weeks' automobile trip in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York. The trip was a pleasant one, and the excursionists report a fine road all the way along excepting a few miles of rough country road between Worcester and Lowell. The couple left here on August 16 in Dr. Chagnon's American Roadster and proceeded to Nashua then to Manchester and Concord, where they stopped for a couple of days. From there they shifted to Worcester, going as far as New York. On their return they went as far as Hartford, Conn., then to Springfield, where they made a stop of three days on account of the rain.

This was Dr. Chagnon's third annual trip, having toured the province of Quebec last year and the year previous, in company with Dr. J. B. Masse of Lawrence. On the first trip they covered 1000 miles, on the second 1200 and on this last trip the speedometer registered 800 miles. The doctor said this last trip was the best however, for they did not even encounter a puncture.

Next year the doctor intends to tour the western states.

A CHIMNEY FIRE

An alarm from box 23 at 140 o'clock this afternoon summoned a portion of the fire department to a chimney fire in a house at 14 Riverside avenue. A stream from a hand extinguisher put an end to the blaze. There was no damage done.

NEW PREMIER

SAYS THERE WILL NOT BE MATERIAL CHANGE OF POLICY

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Marquis Salotti, the new premier of Japan, today authorized the Associated Press to state that the change in administration does not portend a material change of any policy. The government will in all essentials follow the traditional policy, devoting itself especially to the enhancement of the national credit and to the development of industrial resources.

In no less a degree will the cause of international peace receive the attention of the premier, who positively asserts that the government will continue to cultivate the closest amity with all the powers.

"BILL" LOONEY

IS CHARMING LARGE AUDIENCES AT SPRINGFIELD

"Bill" Looney, Lowell's heavy weight charlatan and comedian, has been heard from in Springfield, Mass., where he is pleasing large audiences for the week by his harmonious manipulations of the clarinet. Next week he will join the orchestra of the National theatre at New Bedford, Mass., and hence his genial countenance will be missed from Lowell for the coming season.

40,000 POUNDS OF RANGES

The First Fall Shipment of Crawford Ranges to A. E. O'Heir & Co.

The largest shipment of Ranges ever received in this city arrived yesterday in three immense auto trucks, direct from Walker & Pratt's Foundry, at Waltham, Mass., a distance of 26 miles, making the trip in two hours.

The three trucks were loaded with 72 Crawford Ranges and 24 Crawford

Parlor Stoves—a total weight of over 40,000 pounds. This will give an idea to the people of Lowell of the immense quantity of Crawford Ranges sold here by A. E. O'Heir & Co.

Another similar shipment will be received by them the 1st of October and another the 1st of November and very likely some smaller shipments in between of some sizes that they shall run short of.

Walker & Pratt are the first manufacturers to inaugurate the shipment of large quantities of goods by auto trucks. This points the way to an opening of great possibilities for motor trucks and the advantage of the New England market for New England manufactured goods.

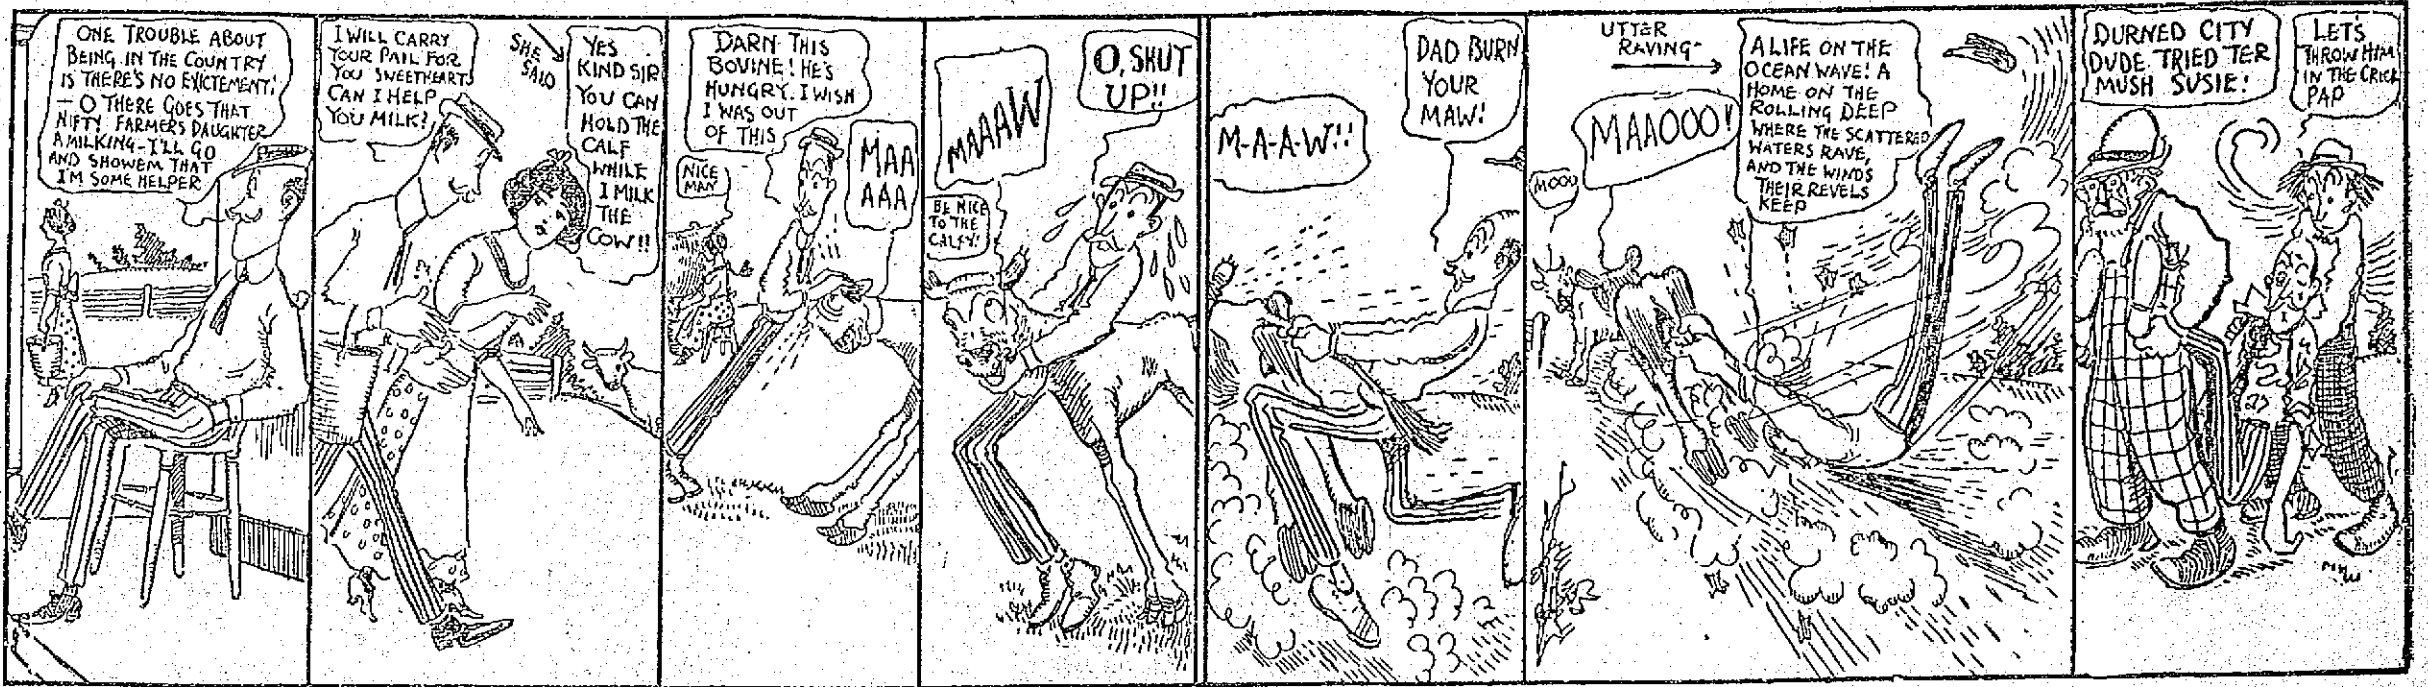

What a splendid opportunity here—millions of people consuming the best that can be produced, living within easy reach of quick and economical delivery by motor trucks, delays and damage by breakage which are a great source of annoyance, and loss are avoided.

Walker & Pratt are to be congratulated for their enterprising spirit and also on their fortunate choice of A. E. O'Heir & Co., the Merrimack Square Furniture Dealers, as their agents and the wonderful sale of Crawford Ranges in this city.

MR. I. L. SHOWEM SPENDS THE WEEK-END IN THE COUNTRY

JUSTICE RICHARDSON
Aged Judge Passed Away at Orford, N. H., Last Night

ORFORD, N. H., Aug. 31.—Death, which had hovered about his bedside for a month, came to Judge James I. Richardson of the Massachusetts superior court just at the stroke of midnight last night. Judge Richardson had been unconscious more than 24 hours.

James Bailey Richardson was born at Orford, N. H., Dec. 9, 1832. He received his education in the public schools of that town and was prepared for college partly by Homer O. Hitchcock, a private tutor, and partly at Thetford Hill academy. In 1853 he entered Yale college, but had to give up his studies there on account of illness. On his recovery he took a course at Dartmouth college, graduating from that institution in 1857. Then, choosing law as his profession, he came to Boston and entered the law firm of Hutchins & Wheeler. Two years later he was admitted to the Suffolk bar, but retained his connection with the firm for some time longer. In 1862 he opened an office at 20 Court street, and did legal business there for 20 years until the building was torn down. He then formed a partnership with Edwin D. Hill, under the firm name of Richardson & Hill, with offices in the Rogers building, 200 Washington street.

Active in Politics
Judge Richardson was early identified with municipal affairs. He was always a republican in general politics, though in state and local affairs he showed considerable independence. In the early sixties he served for three years on the republican ward and city committees, and in 1866 he was elected to the legislature from old ward 4. In 1877 and 1878 he was a member of the common council from ward 10. In 1884 he was appointed one of the commissioners to revise the city charter, and joined ex-Mayor Cobb and James M. Bugbee in a report to the city council recommending many of the changes which were afterwards successfully adopted.

Pushed State Police Act
For many years Mr. Richardson was master in chancery; as such, and as referee, he decided many important cases. It was largely through his efforts that the measure for a state board of police was put through the legislature. For years he was one of the most zealous and active members of the board of managers of the Home for Little Wanderers, and though a Unitarian in religion, used to say that "The Little Wanderers' Home" was his church. Since 1876 he was trustee of the Franklin Savings bank, and from 1880 to 1893 trustee of Dartmouth college, where the "Richardson dormitory" was named after him. He also founded the "Joel Richardson scholarship" in honor of his father. For several years he was president of the Alumni association of Dartmouth college of Boston and vicinity. He belonged to several clubs, including the University club and the Boston Art club. Mr. Richardson married Lucy Cushing Gould of Boston, Nov. 15, 1865. His home was at 231 Newbury street, though he and his family spent their summers in Orford, N. H.

Toward the close of 1910 Judge Richardson issued an injunction restraining the officers and members of the Photo Engravers' union, No. 3, from attempting to unionize the shop of Folson & Suenegren. A few days later he received a black-hand letter threatening him with death if he took further proceedings against the union. After the injunction was issued there was a further hearing by Judge Hitchcock, who entered a decree making the injunction permanent and awarding Folson & Suenegren $500 damages against the union. A second threat-ing communication was then received by the judge. Both letters bore the Chicago postmark. They were handed over to the postal authorities and the police.

THE FUNERAL SERVICES
ORFORD, N. H., Aug. 31.—Funeral services for Justice James Richardson of the Massachusetts superior court, who died at his summer home here last night, will be held Saturday afternoon in the Congregational church in this village. The Rev. Henry Winthrop, pastor of the church, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Henry Cushman of the Tufts divinity school, a long time friend of Justice Richardson. Burial will be in the Orford cemetery.

NORTH CHELMSFORD
With the opening of the new school house in North Chelmsford the temporary schools at West Chelmsford and in the North village town hall and five house will be closed. Edward Fallon has been appointed janitor of the new building and Michael Scollan will continue to attend to the old buildings. The new school will be open to inspection tomorrow afternoon.

WHITE HOWLED DOWN
Excitement at Elks' Outing at Nahant
BOSTON, Aug. 31.—Efforts made by Representative Norman H. White to address the Elks of Massachusetts at the annual banquet held at the Nahant, Nahant, last night, proved a dismal failure.

There were 600 Elks present, not counting Representative White. "It gives me pleasure to introduce Representative," started President James R. Nicholson.

"Poss," shouted someone, and in a moment the banquet hall was in pandemonium. "He has no place here," "Three cheers for Poss," "Shut up," all but drowned out a few scattering cheers for "The next governor."

President Nicholson rapped in vain for order.

"Brothers," he cried, "I want to remind you we are Elks and that we must act as Elks and gentlemen. Mr. White is not going to talk politics. You know that is forbidden in this organization. Mr. White came here as a brother Elk, and he deserves courteous treatment."

The noise ceased for a moment and Mr. White rose.

"Poss," "Shut up," shouted the banqueters. Mr. White strove to stem the tide.

"Brother Elks," he yelled, "I merely came here to address you as an Elk and in no other capacity. I have come without my supper and have traveled a distance of sixty-five miles to wish you godspeed and God bless you."

And thereupon Mr. White took his hat, waved his hand and made an impressive exit.

Behind him, however, he left a troubled gathering. Men shouted at each other their opinions of the action of the Elks of White in regard to Poss, and of White's action in coming, before order was finally obtained.

Mr. White came over from the outing of the Malden republican committee to the banquet, which was the concluding exercise of the twenty-second annual outing of the Massachusetts Elks association.

The guests of the day were Governor John K. Tener of Pennsylvania, a former Haverhill man and past grand exalted ruler of the Elks; Grand Treasurer Edward Leach of New York and Attorney General James M. Swift of Massachusetts. There were no speeches. The affair was arranged by a committee headed by Assistant United States District Attorney E. Mark Sullivan of Boston.

Previous to going to Nahant the annual election of the association was held in Boston and the old officers were all re-elected. The list includes: James R. Nicholson, president; Frank J. Whalen, vice president; J. Clifford Entwistle, secretary; James L. Johnson, treasurer; and John H. Walsh, guard. All are members of Boston lodge.

A VACATION STORY
City Boy Tells of Hay Ride in Maine

The vacation season is now ending. In Lowell and in other large cities all who can each summer journey to some quiet spot to seek rest and relaxation. Naturally, to an observer the difference in the manner of living between those residing in the country and those inhabiting the cities is one of the chief impressions left on his return to town. Nothing will more deeply impress one with this difference than a participation in some of the many forms of diversion by which people of the rural districts make life happy.

The following is a brief account of a hayride party which a vacationist enjoyed while spending a few pleasant weeks in Hingham, Me.

The party, which numbered about fifteen, arrived at its starting point about 10 a. m. and, piling into a wagon, seated themselves on the new-cut hay along its sides. The wagon, one drawn by two horses and used during the week for carrying grain, was a long and narrow vehicle with projecting latticed sides. Covering its floor was a thick layer of hay, while at one end were placed baskets and hamper crammed with sandwiches, pies, cakes, old-fashioned preserves, green corn and potatoes fresh from the field and, last but not least, a good sized keg of cider.

Cracking his whip, the driver guided his horses down the long, winding road and the outing was on. The horses ambled along, sometimes walking and sometimes breaking into a trot while the wagon rolled over the dusty road in an easy and enjoyable manner. From the start its occupants enjoyed themselves. One group played cards, another told stories and a third enlivened the occasion by singing the latest songs. This last form of entertainment then began.

A Hint to Brown-tail Sufferers
If you happen to be one of our many readers who are suffering the torments of Brown-tail poison, here is welcome news for you.

The best remedy known for Brown-tail poison is Tollenine. Get it at your druggist's today. You will find that the first application will bring relief and the terrible irritation will soon cease. Tollenine is an old reliable New England remedy that has a score of summer uses. There is nothing like it for sunburn, tired-aching feet, mosquito and insect bites, etc. In fact, irritation and inflammation of every kind yield to it very quickly.

came the most popular and, as several of the party possessed really good voices and as all were not timid about joining in the choruses, a volume of harmonious melody arose that left only the most agreeable impression.

The country through which the party passed was beautiful. Fields of waving oats and tall corn, orchards bending under their weight of rosy apples, and groves of tall green pines were to be seen every side. Beyond these farmlands stretched miles and miles of hills covered with maple, pine, hemlock and elm trees, the leaves of which were just beginning to take on their golden hues.

But too soon the scene of the outing, some five or six miles from the start, was reached. It was located in a clearing of the pines, near the shore of a sequestered body of water known as Hammond's pond. Here the horses were unhitched and allowed to graze, a large fire was started and preparations were begun for the chief event of the day—a dinner in the open.

While this bustle was in progress several in the party who were disciples of Isaac Walton rowed in the middle of the pond where they set about "volting" its funny occupants onto the "meadows" of their backs. They were successful. In a short while the fishermen came ashore with a mess of trout and perch which, when cooked proved one of the tastiest features of a delicious dinner.

When this was finally prepared and ready for serving, the party, assembling near the fireplace, seated themselves in a circle upon the grass and fell to without ceremony. Indeed, so keen were the appetites of all that this, it might be said, was the only time in the course of the day when conversation reached the flagging point. For this "there was a reason." The roasted corn and potatoes, the fish just drawn from the pond, the home made bread and different kinds of delicacies, all of which were washed down by the cider, fresh from the presses, formed a spread that perhaps might be equalled at Delmonico's but never excelled.

After dinner the party broke into small groups, some roaming through the fields in quest of ferns and wild flowers, with more or less success, some lolled about near the dying fire, and some roved around the shores of the pond gathering its lilies and exploring the remoter sections of that picturesque body of water.

Among these latter was a pretty girl who was desirous of learning to row. On being given the oars she proceeded to do a merry o-round stunt with such regularity that her companions soon grew dizzy and fervently wished themselves on land again. Under her erratic guidance the little craft zig-zagged along the water in a manner that was truly wonderful to behold and finally reached the shore played out, as it were, through its unusual handling. In the excitement of landing the pilot dropped one of the oarlocks into the water and when one of the party ashore pulled off his shoes and socks and rolled up his trousers to search for it, she gravely told him not to enter the water lest his feet might dirty it. The gentleman is wondering yet as to just what she meant.

Thus, only too quickly, the afternoon slipped by and the time came for the return. The wagon being made ready, the picnicers, now with not so much alacrily, seated themselves about its hay-covered floor and soon were gazing at Hammond's pond from a distance. It was a quiet ride back to the starting point, everyone seeming content to do little but enjoy the calm beauty of the surrounding countryside. Along the same road over which the party started it was that the wagon rolled homeward, yet in the few intervening hours the scenery had grown even more beautiful. Over the tops of the pines on the surrounding hills the sun was slowly sinking with magnificent grandeur, its expiring rays painting the straggling mass of clouds about it in exquisite colors. It was a fitting ending of an enjoyable outing.

THE OAKLAND SEWER

Was Discussed by the Committee on Sewers Last Night

The committee on sewers, Alderman Rountree, chairman; Aldermen Daly and Jodoin, gave hearings in the public hearing room at city hall last night in which the Oakland sewer matter was discussed. Men whose property is damaged because of inadequate sewerage facilities in that section of the city were present and stated that they would be willing to stand the abuse members of the committee were in favor of relieving the situation by pumping the sewage over the hill and into the Andover street sewer. Property owners who spoke in favor of the gradual completion of the Oakland sewer included Jesse H. Shepard, Edward Cawley and Michael F. Gookin. The Wiggville sewer was also on the list for a hearing and Richard K.

J. C. Bennett and William Farrell of the firm of Farrell & Conant, property owners in the vicinity of the proposed extension, spoke in favor of it. William E. Badger, representing the Locks & Canals company, said that his company would object to the payment of an assessment on the proposed extension as it had already paid an assessment on the Worthen street sewer. Mr. Badger was informed by City Engineer Kearney that the Locks & Canals company would not be asked to pay any assessment on the proposed extension and in view of this information Mr. Badger withdrew all objections.

Mr. Ryan and Mr. Preston explained the great need of a sewer in Rutland street. They explained that there are several new houses being built there and that many more would be added if the sewer were built. No remonstrants.

The Oakland sewer was the next up

tion in question spoke briefly and in favor of the proposition for a better sewer service in Wiggville. One man said that school children in Wiggville played in sewage most of the summer. Richard K. Sykes wanted to know if the committee contemplated the building of a sewer in Billerica street and the chair said that the idea was to take care of that whole section.

The hearing was declared closed and the committee then went into session to take action on the matters brought before it.

The proposed Carlisle street sewer was recommended. The matter of caring for certain outlets emptying into the Merrimack river, was next considered. It was voted to ask the city solicitor for his opinion whether it wasn't a matter for the Locks and Canals Co. The cost of correcting the alleged evils was placed at $3000.

The petition of Robert J. McKearn for a sewer in Lincoln street was laid over to the next meeting.

A claim of $37 was presented by Charles N. Erskine for work in pumping out water from his cellar, as a result of the defect in the sewerage, was referred to the committee on claims, with the recommendation that the sum asked be paid.

A communication from Rev. Fr. Harkins was read, suggesting the placing of catch basins in the vicinity of the new Catholic church off Stevens and D streets. It was voted to make the necessary improvements.

The petition for a new sewer in the passageway in the rear of Dutton street was next taken up. It was voted to lay the matter on the table until an estimate of the work could be given.

The proposed Rutland street sewer was talked over and it was finally voted to lay the matter over for an estimate of the cost.

The matter of the Merrill avenue sewer was taken from the table. It was referred to the engineer for an estimate.

The petition for a catch-basin in By street and Barker avenue was considered and it was laid on the table. Catch-basins in State street were recommended by the committee, as were also those proposed for sections of Jackson street. A catch-basin in Meadowcroft street was also voted. A view was voted on the proposed catch-basin in Fruit street.

Alderman Rountree proposed recommending the sum of $10,000 for an extension of the Oakland sewer. Alderman Daly expressed himself as opposed to the proposition, and Councilman Jodoin didn't seem to take kindly to the proposition. Alderman Daly favored the placing of a pump in that section and it was voted to have the civil engineer give an estimate of the cost of constructing such a pump.

Adjourned.

THOMAS J. O'BRIEN

SAILED FROM YOKOHAMA TO ROME TODAY

TOKIO, Aug. 31.—Thomas J. O'Brien, for several years ambassador to Japan from the United States, sailed from Yokohama today on the steamer Shinyo Maru to take up his new duties as ambassador at the Italian capital.

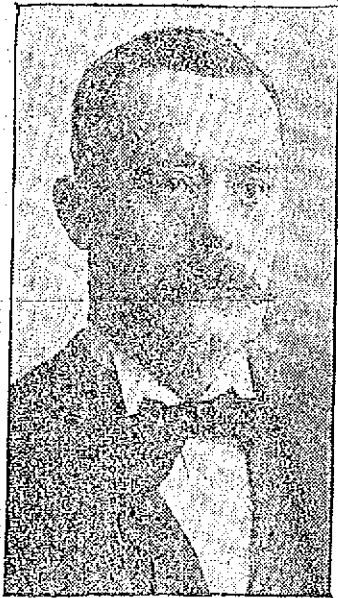

The departing ambassador was given an unprecedented send-off. A large assembly, representing all classes, packed the vicinity of the railroad station, the gathering including representatives of the imperial household, as well as members of both the new Saloni and the retiring Katsura ministries.

Before Mr. O'Brien left the capital a brilliant farewell luncheon was given in his honor by the American University club, which is composed of Japanese and American graduates. The entire American embassy and consular staffs were invited and many prominent residents of Tokio and Yokohama were present.

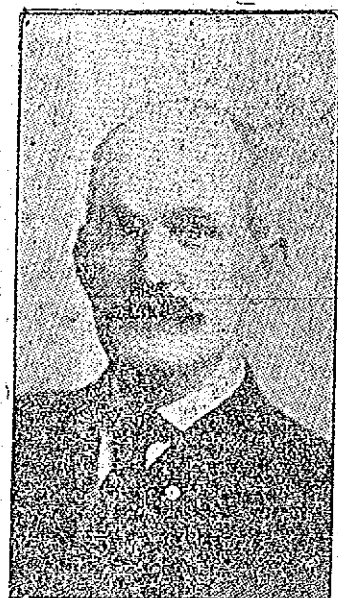

Mr. O'Brien was transferred to Rome to take the place left vacant by the appointment of John G. Leishman as ambassador at Berlin in succession to Dr. David Hill, resigned.

STEPHEN H. KEARNEY, City Engineer Who Attends Instruction in the Matter.

EDWARD CAWLEY

ALD. ALEXANDER ROUNTREE Who Presided.

for a time if the city would show good faith in the completion of the sewer by building as much as the city could afford to build each year until the sewer is completed. It was roughly estimated that the cost of completing the sewer would figure about $200,000. Alderman Rountree was in favor of recommending the appropriation of $10,000 to be spent on the Oakland sewer this year but the other two Sykes and one other property holder in Wiggville enlightened the committee as to the very undesirable conditions existing in Wiggville. Other hearings were of a minor nature but more or less important.

It was just about 8 o'clock when Chairman Rountree called to order. The first matter had to do with the extension of a sewer in the passageway between Market street and Broadway.

ment. Mr. Shepard said that the people in the Oakland did not expect that the big sewer would be completed in one or two years, but they want to see the work continued in order that they may look forward to permanent relief from present conditions. He referred to the dry wells and sewer pipes running across Rogers street and discharging in open laud. He said that the odor was very offensive and disagreeable and that in time it would become very unhealthful. "The construction of the sewer," said Mr. Shepard, "must necessarily cover a period of years, but we cannot live in peace and comfort in our homes under existing conditions and not only is it offensive and uncomfortable but it retards building in that vicinity and the city has already had suit brought against it because of the condition of affairs there."

Mr. Cawley said it would be for the city's best interest to complete the Oakland sewer. "We need a sewer badly," he said, "and it is a proposition upon which the city will get its money back. The conditions existing at the present time are intolerable."

Michael Gookin said the ground had been covered pretty thoroughly by Messrs. Shepard and Cawley. He said that the section in question was suffering for want of proper sewerage. He said he was particularly interested in Rogers street. He had tenants living in that street, he said, who had threatened to appeal to the state board of health because of the sewerage there. He said that a beautiful tract of land was tied up for want of sewerage facilities, and that the city would get a quick return on its money if it would finish the Oakland sewer.

Mr. Shepard said that the information relative to the hearing came to him only a day or two ago, and had earlier notice been received, he said, there would have been more property owners present to press the great need of a sewer.

In reply to a question by Mr. Daly, Mr. Shepard said that he could not tell the exact length of the sewer, but he presumed that such information could be obtained at the office of the city engineer.

Replying again to Mr. Daly relative to the approximate cost of the sewer, Mr. Shepard said that at once time when the matter was in abeyance it was estimated, exclusive of any possible blitty of ledge, that the sewer would cost something like $125,000 or $140,000. He said that considerable ledge had been encountered, but he believed, the worst had been met.

"What amount of money would you consider reasonable to expend on that sewer each year?" asked Mr. Daly.

"That is a hard question to answer," replied Mr. Shepard. "It would depend," he said, "on the amount of money available, but in the matter of a trunk sewer I think the city might spend in the neighborhood of $50,000. Of course that is only a guess. A schoolhouse might burn or something else might happen, that would entail immediate expense."

Mr. Daly said the point he was trying to get at was how long it would take, under ordinary circumstances, to complete the sewer, and Mr. Shepard said he thought the people in the Oakland and vicinity would be satisfied if they were made secure in the assurance that the trunk sewer would be completed in five years time.

Mr. Daly suggested that something should be done to give immediate relief, and then there was entered upon a discussion having to do with the pumping of the sewage up over the hill and in to the Andover street sewer as originally proposed by ex-City Engineer Bowers. The proposition was to put in a pump to catch the sewage and install a pump to send it back over the hill. Pipes for this purpose have already been laid. Mr. Shepard said he did not know why the city abandoned the scheme at the time it was proposed and laid out by Mr. Bowers. Mr. Shepard said that a pump would relieve present conditions, and in fact would give relief for a number of years.

Then the chair declared the hearing open on the Wiggville sewer. "I see quite a number of gentlemen present from the Wiggville section," said Mr. Rountree, "and as the committee is considering the proposition to build a sewer in that neighborhood I thought that by inviting you here tonight we might get more light on the subject."

Two property owners from the sec-

"Good Riddance," Says Anty Drudge.

Mrs. Don't know—"Oh, dear! Oh, dear! What shall I do? Here I am with the biggest washing for months, and there is a great big rust hole in the bottom of my washboard."

Anty Drudge—"It's just the best thing that ever happened for you. Just throw the washboard away or make an ash can of it, and wash with this cake of Fels-Naptha soap I've brought you. Use it in cold or lukewarm water, as easy directions on inside of wrapper tell you, and you'll never want a washboard about the place again."

You are always ready to use Fels-Naptha soap. That is a great advantage.

Say you want to wash a few white things on a hot day. You don't build a hot fire and make the house like an oven to heat water.

With Fels-Naptha you just get a bowl of cold water and wash the things.

It's so simple, so easy. No boiling of clothes; no steam, no nauseous odor.

Same way if you want to remove an accidental grease spot from the floor or wash a window marked by sticky fingers. When there's cold water near, Fels-Naptha is always ready.

You'll appreciate this readiness on wash-day. No washboards and stirring paddles to bother with, no hot fire to keep up, no danger of scalding your hands.

Likewise in washing dishes, Fels-Naptha will cut the grease in cold or lukewarm water, no matter how long they have stood before washing. And there's no heat to crack delicate china or glassware.

Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

CAIUS CAESAR'S DEATH

AUGUST 31.—Caius Caesar, the first of the imperial madmen was born August 31, A. D. 12. All the Caesars were more or less "bug," but this one was all the more "bug" in his class. He ascended the Roman throne on the death of his father, Augustus, and he was a pious, tea-tioning, by comparison with his successor. One of his wishes was that Rome had but one week so that he could stay home at a single blow. The killing of people high and low was his favorite pastime. He would give a banquet to some of the senators and have people put to death in the banquet hall as an added attraction. He built a bridge, and while it was loaded with a gray concrete of people, the emperor might have the pleasure of seeing people drown. He ordered criminals fed to his wild beasts, when meat was scarce. And all the time he was as mad as a hatter, uttering who, and being called out of work. One of his bodyguards, at last, did the trick which ended his folly. After being rightfully treated, Mr. Augustus proceeded to carve up Mr. Caesar like a con eulin' in a waltz. This happy event took place January 24, A. D. 41.

AMERICAN OFFICERS TO TAKE A YEAR'S STUDY IN FRENCH SCHOOL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The war department is struggling to make the American cavalry soldier a perfect, fearless, dashing rider—like his forefathers in the days of the Indian campaigns. With that end in view, Captains Conrad Babcock and Henry R. Richmond, of the cavalry are about to leave this country for a year's course of instruction in the French school at Saumur. The advance of civilization across the continent and the advent of the bicycle and the auto are the causes of a deteriorizing in American horsemanship in the opinion of army officers.

With the flow of population to the west and the large losses in the east, a means of locomotion they contend that a perfect rider has become an exception and not a rule.

Upon the return of the officers from France they will be appointed instructors in the American mounted service schools.

STABBING AFFRAYS

that it was about time there was a little moral reform and added that of late the principal business in police court was the hearing of assault cases.

The first case taken up was that of Philip Joe, charged with assaulting the two women. Deputy Supt. Downey appeared for the government and the defendant was represented by Lawyer Bennett Silverblatt.

Agata Kucharska, one of the complainants, testified that shortly before 11 o'clock Tuesday night the defendant and a number of other men were fighting in Sullivan's court, on Fenwick street. She was afraid that the defendant might be killed and stepping into the crowd said: "Don't fight, whereupon Joe turned around and stabbed her in the right breast with a pocket knife."

Agata Kucharska, the second complainant, corroborated the testimony of the preceding witness and said that Joe stabbed her on the wrist with a sharp pocket knife. She said that she was in a store earlier in the evening and heard Joe say: "I have a good sharp knife for tonight." On cross-examination the witness testified that her husband was present at the time but she did not know if he participated in the fight.

Philip Joe, the defendant, said that he went to a store in Fenwick street where a window had been broken and was returning to his home when a man approached him and after calling him a "wild name" struck him twice and knocked him to the ground. While he was on the ground Joe claims that about 20 men pounced upon him and admitted that in trying to defend himself he might have accidentally struck the women, but that he had no intention to do so.

The court after considering the evidence in the case found him guilty and sentenced him to two months in jail.

The case of Stanislawski charged with assaulting John Murawski was then taken up. J. Joseph O'Connor appeared for the government the defendant not being represented by counsel.

John Murawski, the complainant, testified that he lives in Fenwick street and Tuesday night left his home to get a "wet goods" when Sopal approached him and drawing a knife stabbed him in the back of the left ear and before he could recover himself Stanislawski stabbed him in the back of the neck. The witness could not state any reason for the men assaulting him other than that they had some trouble with people who live near him and that they threatened to take revenge on the friends of the people who had assaulted them.

Dr. Samuel Edelstein, one of the house physicians at the Lowell hospital, testified that Murawski called at the hospital late Tuesday night and was suffering from laceration in the back of the ear and another on the back of the neck. The wound behind the ear was a slight one but it was necessary to take two stitches in the wound in the neck.

Patrolman Markham said he saw Stanislawski strike the complainant and later placed him under arrest, but did not succeed in capturing Sopal.

Stanislawski, testifying in his own behalf, said that he was drunk Tuesday night and did not know what he did. He admitted that he might have stabbed the man, but he did not know.

Judge Hadley found the defendant guilty and sentenced him to two months in the house of correction at Cambridge.

Back to the Farm

Charles E. Wilson pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with being drunk. When placed under arrest Wilson gave the name of Daly because he was on parole from the state farm, but he was recognized by one of the officers and admitted that he was a parole man. He will be returned to the state farm.

Rendezvous For Drunks

Bethel Hall pleaded guilty to being drunk. Patrolman Sheridan testified that the woman resided in Pearl street, and that her home was a rendezvous for drunken people. Owing to the woman's condition the court deemed it advisable to sentence her to jail for 20 days.

Threatened His Wife

"Whatever she says is right," said John J. Smith who was charged with threatening his wife. Mrs. Smith said that her husband came home drunk yesterday and when she objected to his bringing a drunken friend into the house he struck her and threatened to kill her. She said that he had threatened her repeatedly and had struck her frequently. Smith offered no defense Judge Hadley sent him to jail for four months.

Drunken Offenders

Robert Welch pleaded guilty to being drunk and a fine of $5 was imposed. Four first offenders were fined $5 each and several simple drunks were released before the opening of court.

Fine of $100 Imposed

John P. Carney was charged with unlawfully having in his possession, with intent to sell the same, certain of the following: a certain quantity of money from the White Sewing Machine Co. Pleas of not guilty were entered and by agreement the cases were continued until next Wednesday.

Case Continued

William H. Gilbert and Frank LeBlanc were arraigned on complaints charging them with the larceny of money from the White Sewing Machine Co. Pleas of not guilty were entered and by agreement the cases were continued until next Wednesday.
